

'No Queen, No Prince—Both So Open and Lovely'

MONTREAL (CP)—There was no Queen and no prince there—they are both so open and lovely.

Mayor Sarto Fournier's words appeared to sum up the feelings of the 47 guests who dined with Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip Wednesday night on the royal yacht Britannia as it lay alongside a pier in Montreal harbor.

Mayor Fournier, who sat at the Queen's right throughout the six-course dinner, was obviously enchanted by her.

"Her French?" he said in answer to a question, "it is better than fluent, it is elegant." We talked in both French and English, I switched back and forth without knowing it.

Like the rest of the guests

who included Montreal civic dignitaries, high church officials, federal politicians and sports figures Jean Beliveau and Sam Etcheverry, Mayor Fournier said the royal couple were delightfully easy to talk to.

Beliveau, all-star centre with the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League and Etcheverry, perennial all-star quarterback with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, were more reserved about their opinions, but much impressed.

Beliveau and his wife Elise, who arrived about 15 minutes before the rest of the guests and spent the time before going aboard the yacht at 4:30 p.m. PDT chatting rather nervously with reporters, said the Queen recalled seeing Canadians play here eight years ago.

Prince Philip, he said, "seemed to know quite a bit about hockey and told me he was a lot the same."

Noisy Ships Say Hello To Queen

MONTREAL (CP)—The royal yacht Britannia, escorted by two freshly-painted tugs, eased into Montreal's fresh water harbor Wednesday carrying Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip here for continuation of their 45-day Canadian tour.

Although they were not due to come ashore until today, a crowd of several thousands gathered behind a wire barricade to cheer and applaud the royal couple. Ships in the harbor set up a deafening din, sounding a welcome with their whistles.

STOOD ON SUNDECK

The Queen and Prince Philip stood on the Britannia's sundeck as the yacht moved upriver towards the harbor. She and the prince chatted animatedly as the yacht was edged into her berth at 2:31 p.m. PDT.

When a cheer went from the crowd, the Queen acknowledged it with a wave of her handkerchief. The royal couple disappeared below decks as soon as the ship was secured.

TUMULTUOUS WELCOME

It was learned that the Queen and the prince sat on the sundeck for much of the 90-mile trip from Trois-Rivières, where they were given a tumultuous welcome during a brief morning visit.

Shortly after the Britannia docked, Mayor Sarto Fournier and J. M. Savignac, chairman of the city's executive committee, arrived to pay their respects.

The Queen and Prince Philip are to tour Montreal today

and attend a civic ball tonight. Friday the Queen joins with President Eisenhower in the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway at St. Lambert, across the river from Montreal.

At Trois-Rivières, a reception unmatched since the start of their Canadian tour was given the royal couple by an exuberant holiday crowd.

Police estimated that anywhere from 40,000 to 60,000 people turned out to cheer and applaud the royal couple during their brief stop en route to Montreal.

Philip Scrapes Paint Off Yacht

MONTREAL (UPI) — Prince Philip bumped the royal yacht Britannia against the side of a pier yesterday and scraped the paint on a nearly 25-foot area of the ship's glistening hull.

Esmond Butler, assistant press secretary to Queen Elizabeth, reversed himself and told newsmen that Philip was handling the ship when it scraped alongside the pier at Three Rivers, Que.

Butler earlier told reporters at the docks after the Britannia reached Montreal that the Queen's husband was not responsible.

"Prince Philip was bringing the yacht alongside when this occurred," Butler told reporters.

He said the mishap involving Philip, a former British navy frigate captain, could have happened to anyone and the damage could be repaired "by one seaman with a pot of paint in five minutes."

Butler said "every ship that comes up the St. Lawrence probably has had a scrape or two and this is nothing unusual."

Earlier at Three Rivers, where a "hometown boy,"

Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis, drove to meet the Queen, whom he left after a Quebec City dinner late Tuesday, one of the largest crowds to greet the Queen so far in her tour lined up shoulder to shoulder around her in a local square.

Police estimated that about 60,000, many from outlying districts, joined in the flag waving, hand clapping welcome at "Le Flambeau" a stone gushing out continuous flame from the top to mark Three Rivers' 325th anniversary.

The Queen saw a battered old oil painting of one of her ancestors as she and Philip returned from the memorial to their yacht.

The cheap copy of a head and shoulders portrait of Britain's Victoria was held up above the crowd of heads by a local resident who offered to sell it for $200. There were no takers.

CBC PEACE RESTORED PROGRAM BACK ON AIR

Directors Reverse President's Decision

TORONTO (CP) — Ernest Bushnell, acting president of the CBC, said Wednesday night his board of directors would not back his cancellation of a parliamentary opinion program and the program would be restored to the radio network Monday.

After an afternoon of directors' meetings at which no minutes were taken, a haggard Mr. Bushnell told a press conference that the 37 who resigned when he cancelled the program Preview Commentary were welcome back.

By late Wednesday at least 26 indicated they would return.

A statement of the CBC board of directors read by Mr. Bushnell said the three-minute radio opinion program from Ottawa was being resumed to "remove any doubt as to the independence of the corporation."

Mr. Bushnell said: I made the decision to cancel the program in consultation with my colleagues in Ottawa. This is the first time the board has considered it. They have reversed the CBC management's decision.

He said the decision to restore the program was unanimous. Asked whether he intends to remain with the CBC, he replied: "I hope so."

Welcomed CBC Move

The 28 Toronto CBC program organizers and radio and television producers who resigned, said Wednesday night in a statement they welcomed the CBC's move to return the program to the air next Monday. Some 24 of them said they would accept the CBC's offer to return to work immediately.

David Walker, spokesman for the group, said three principals, who have been invited to testify before the House of Commons committee on broadcasting in Ottawa next Tuesday, have not yet made a decision to return. One other has not yet announced his decision.

In their statement, the group said:

"We resigned in defence of the principle—everyone knows what it was—that the air must be free for a full and forthright expression of opinion on all questions of importance and must not fall under the control of any special interests."

"We welcome tonight's statement by the board of directors and are taking it as a guarantee that the principle now is secure. On that basis we are going back to work and are looking forward to continuing the work of the corporation with Frank Peers and his associates, Hugh Gillis and Bernard Trotter."

Resignations Refused

Earlier Wednesday night the CBC board of directors announced the three-minute radio program Preview Commentary would be restored and that the board had not accepted the producers' resignations.

Peers, Gillis and Trotter, the three supervisory men who resigned from the CBC's department of talks and public affairs charging "clandestine political interference," had not made a decision to go back yet.

They charged that the top CBC administrators had shown weakness in the face of what they called "clandestine political interference" in the cancellation of Preview Commentary.

In Ottawa Wednesday before the announcement of the CBC decision the Commons broadcasting committee decided to investigate the charges of political interference.

A CBC spokesman said the corporation hopes normal program schedules will be resumed immediately. Among the programs affected were Tabloid and Viewpoint, both TV opinion programs.

Mr. Bushnell was asked whether members of Parliament had ever spoken to him unofficially about CBC programs. He said they had on social occasions. A reporter asked whether this might have constituted the "clandestine political interference" cited by those who resigned.

Mr. Bushnell replied with a chuckle: "It might be."

Pressed further on the question of pressures and who had made the decision to drop the program, he said he had been advised by Charles Jennings, controller of broadcasting responsible for policy, and H. G.

'Princess' Sold As Tug

VANCOUVER (CP) — The 140-foot freight and passenger vessel Nootka Princess will be converted to a heavy duty tug for service on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Sale of the ship, former CPR steamer, Princess of Alberni, to Great West Towing and Salvage Ltd. and H. L. Towing Ltd., was announced Wednesday by Northland Navigation Co.

Deserters May Stay

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration department officials said Wednesday they expect to receive an application from two seamen who deserted from a Russian trawler at St. John's, Nfld., to remain in Canada as immigrants or under political asylum.

Cougars Get Royal Stars

By JIM TANG

Victoria Cougars will have the use of all players owned or assigned to the former New Westminster Royals, including Jack Bionda, for the 1959-60 Western Hockey League season.

Wilf Ritchie, vice-president of the Victoria club who has been attending the two-day WHL meetings at Calgary, could not be reached last night but it was reported early this morning that he had completed arrangements with the Portland group which purchased the New Westminster franchise for the loan of its players for one season.

NEW ARENA

This was made possible when the new owners decided on Monday not to operate for a last season in New Westminster. They are unable to operate in Portland until the start of the 1960-61 season, having to await the completion of a new ice arena.

Just how many players the Cougars will get will not be certain for some time.

However, Bionda was given clearance by the Boston Bruins, who completed a working agreement with the New Westminster club before it was sold to the Portland group, to play for the Royals next season and it was reported he will spend the next season in Victoria.

Among the players with the Royals last season were forwards Art Jones, Hugh Barlow, Gordie Fashoway, Max McNab, Arlo Goodwin and Arnie Schmutz, goalkeeper Reno Zanier and defencemen Pete Wright, Ron Matthews and Fred Creighton.

Just what can be expected from Boston also will be in doubt for some time. Some of the Boston-owned players mentioned as likely to be shifted to their Western Hockey League affiliate are forwards Cal Gardner, Buddy Boone, Real Chevrefils, Bob Beckett, Barry Ashbee, Orval Tessier, Skip Teal and George Rainier and defencemen Floyd Hillman.

GOALKEEPER

It was also speculated that the Bruins would send a goalkeeper to the WHL. They have a choice between Bruce Gamble, drafted from Vancouver; Harry Lumley, Don Simmons and a fine young prospect who played last season with the junior Barrie Flyers.

Defenceman Art Erickson and Don Ward, drafted from the Chicago Black Hawks last year, are others who could be sent west this season.

It is assumed that Hal Laycoe, former National Hockey League defenceman who has been manager-coach of the Royals for the past three seasons, will also make the move to Victoria.

Long Fight Ends

Starkweather Dies In Electric Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Charles Starkweather, killer of 11, was electrocuted early this morning.

The 20-year-old and his family reached the end of all avenues of appeal late yesterday when the Supreme Courts of Nebraska and the United States refused to grant stays of the execution.

Starkweather, who was served a tenderloin steak for his last meal earlier in the evening, told an unidentified guard, "I had a feeling that tonight was the night." Four times before, the execution had been stayed.

The Rev. Robert Klein, chaplain for the state penitentiary, arrived about three hours before the execution, stepped briskly to the main building and joined Starkweather on death row.

The state supreme court in an emergency night session, turned down Starkweather's appeal. At almost the same time, his Washington attorneys announced they had

Father Chases, Nabs Molester—Then Dies

SASKATOON (CP) — Cecil Miller, 39, father of three young children, died Wednesday after chasing a man who had enticed his four-year-old daughter into a clump of bushes near their home by promising to give her "some gum."

Mr. Miller died shortly after chasing the stranger for two blocks, then violently fighting with him and holding him until police arrived. Cause of death was believed to be a heart attack.

Mrs. Miller was preparing lunch when a neighbor came in to say the Miller's four-year-old daughter, Diane, had just gone down the street with a strange man.

"Diane came out from the bushes at the end of the street," she said, "Cecil ran out of the house and down the street, and just then a man came out of the bushes, too. Cecil chased him and must have caught him in the next block."

Mr. Miller returned home when police arrived. He complained of a pain in his chest and could not catch his breath. An ambulance was called but the father died before it arrived.

Big Fight On Radio

Radio broadcast of tonight's world heavyweight championship fight between Floyd Patterson and challenger Ingemar Johansson of Sweden will be carried by the CBC.

Victorians can hear the fight on CBU (600) or on KOMO (1000) starting at 7:30 p.m. Victoria (PDT) time. There is no home television.

Pray for My Release Governor Long Pleads

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long somehow smuggled a tape recorded speech out of a mental hospital last night and asked the people of Louisiana to "pray" that he be released on Friday.

The statement by the governor was broadcast over radio station WNOE in New Orleans.

Long gave his assurance that he "wouldn't hurt anybody" if he is released from Southeastern Hospital in Mandeville, La., where he is confined as a schizophrenic paranoiac.

He is scheduled to get a hearing at 10 a.m. Friday in Covington, La., before District Judge Robert D. Jones on whether he was illegally confined on a commitment warrant signed by his wife—now hiding someplace outside Louisiana.

Long's lawyer, Joe Arthur

Sims, an old machine subordinate, took the recording out of the hospital and asked station manager James Noel what was the best way to get it to the public. Noel said his station would broadcast it.

Long wandered and meandered in his talk.

He said the state has to take care of people who are sick and are poor. He related what a "good job" his administration had done for the state.

In conclusion, he said he did not want to "hurt anybody" and asked people to pray for him on the outcome of the hearing.

Canton Dikes Hold

TOKYO (AP)—River dikes near Canton were reported holding firm against rampaging flood waters that have laid waste to vast areas of Red China's southern province of Kwangtung.

At least 187 lives have been lost in the flood and it seems likely many more have died.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

My little boys have drawn my attention to a significant fact: In screen westerns, the good guys generally wear white hats and the bad guys often wear black hats.

I had gone through the whole of my life without finding this out.

Well, maybe I am hasty when I describe it as a "fact." It is not supported by enough experimental evidence, so far.

I'm not justified in formulating a statement by the name of John Mortimore's Law (after the older boy): "In any given western movie, the good guys tend to wear white hats and the occurrence of black hats among bad guys is directly proportional to the occurrence of white hats on the good guys."

No, I think it would be more accurately described as "The John Mortimore White Hat Hypothesis," or simply "The White-Black Hat Theory."

Anyway, the boys formulated the theory as a result of looking at an elderly TV set in our house. The set is equipped with rabbit ears only, and images on its screen look as though they were viewed through muddy water.

Under these conditions, black can not be distinguished from white with any certainty.

But my boys apparently were able to see enough to formulate their history-making theory. They seldom knew what issues were being fought among the false store fronts and across the plains and mesas of the old West, but as soon as the horseback chase began, they knew how to sort out the opposing forces.

Watching the occasional western on my under-water-type TV screen and at movie theatres, I tested the White Hat Theory, and found that it generally held good, at least in the old-fashioned kind of westerns.

Recently I caught the second half of an interesting but rather mixed-up western that was showing at the now closed Dominion Theatre. It was one of the newer westerns in which the bad guys aren't all bad and the good guys aren't all good.

In the course of the action, one of the relatively good guys found it necessary to shoot one of the fairly bad guys—for the man's own welfare of course.

Up to that time, the relatively good guy had been wearing a white hat. When he played the executioner, he donned a black hat. Next day he was back to a white hat again.

What happens in the true adult western, in which there are scarcely any good or bad guys at all, but just maladjusted guys, victims of psychoses and social forces outside their control?

I haven't taken careful stock of the headgear in the adult western, but it seems to me that only one hat color will be acceptable: Grey.

Vancouver Bridge Project

Contempt Action Sought in Strike?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyers for the Dominion Bridge Co. were reported considering a contempt of court action against striking steelworkers Wednesday after they defied a court injunction.

Members of Local 97 of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers withdrew picket lines but failed to resume work on the south end of Vancouver's $23,000,000 Second Narrows Bridge.

The company Tuesday obtained a Supreme Court injunction ordering the men back to work on the bridge on the grounds that a temporary span support is in "a hazardous position."

Norm Edison, business agent for the union, said his lawyers have served notice that they will contest the injunction. A hearing probably would be held Friday.

U.S. May Go It Alone With 'Deep' A-Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman John A. McCone of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday the United States will have to go ahead with underground nuclear testing on its own if the Russians do not join in an agreement to participate in such tests.

McCone told a Senate foreign relations subcommittee such action would be necessary to improve U.S. methods of detecting nuclear explosions. He said the AEC is planning preliminary underground testing sometime this summer with non-nuclear high explosives.

Then, he said, if the Russians will not agree in current negotiations at Geneva to join in "we will initiate our own program" in this field "as it must be done."

Eisenhower:

Extend Aid To Allies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower, foreseeing a long life for the foreign aid program, asked Congress yesterday to put military aid on a long-term basis and give the defence department control over it.

The president sent to the House and Senate changes recommended by his special committee on military assistance.

In proposing that aid planning be put on a long-term basis, William Draper, head of the committee, said "We can't fight a 100 years war, which I suppose this is, by a year-to-year approach."

Neither Draper nor Eisenhower said just how long they thought the multi-billion dollar aid program would continue but the president said he expected to provide for planning on a three-year and eventually a five-year basis.

VANCOUVER — Horst Koehler, radio announcer, has been offered $3,000 by Seattle art dealers for a painting by Dutch artist Adrian Van Oostend which he purchased for $28 at an auction sale.

Western Allies Split On Summit Talks Need

LONDON (UPI)—Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd yesterday reiterated Britain's position that an East-West summit conference be held soon even though its allies might offer objections.

Lloyd reported to the House of Commons on the recessed and stalemated Geneva foreign ministers' conference. His statement in favor of summit talks echoed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's position stated previously.

The Labor party opposition went even further than saying it merely favored a summit meeting. It demanded the conference.

Aneurin Bevan, labor's chief foreign affairs spokesman said the Commons would "be filled with dismay" if the Geneva conference failed to pave the way for a summit meeting "very soon."

The statements by Lloyd and Bevan were symptomatic of the strong demand in this country for a summit meeting—a demand that cuts across domestic party lines but spotlights the growing rift between Britain and its western allies over an East-West conference. U.S. Secretary of State

Christian A. Herter has expressed skepticism over prospects for a summit conference, and French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer have made it plain they are against a meeting with Khrushchev.

Centenarian Sued For Maintenance

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—One-hundred-year-old Luis Carrizales, who attracted wide attention by becoming a father when he was 86 and his wife was 21, is being sued for separate maintenance. The two have six children now. Mrs. Carrizales said in her suit that her husband struck her and physically abused her. She asked custody of the children.

Doctor's Warning

Too Much Relaxation Canadians' Problem

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadians take it too easy too much of the time, a doctor told the Canadian Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation here.

"Today's individual," Dr. Russell Taylor of Edmonton told the association's annual meeting, "spends his time on commercial entertainment and consumer goods, leaving no time to try his creative abilities."

"The result is a malfunctioning of the minds and spirits of many people in our society."

He said 70 per cent of a doctor's case load is "shadow" cases, people suffering ailments with little physiological basis.

He suggested a closer examination of recreational programs in Canada.

Dr. M. Howell of the school of physical education at the University of Alberta said the lack of acceptable Canadian norms in physical education is a major problem facing teachers.

What norms there are, he said, are often used inefficiently.

Not Worth Price—Scientist

Wiser Race Possible After H-War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientist gave assurance yesterday that the human race would survive the hereditary damage of an H-bomb war.

It might even emerge—generations hence — "bigger, stronger, wiser, gentler, healthier." But the price would be enormous and the scientist, Dr. Robert Newell, earnestly advised against paying it.

He said the price would be "a large or major fraction of the population killed, or dying within a few months; survivors carrying many radiation-induced mutations; high infant and adult mortality for many generations."

In the hypothetical war between the United States and Russia, perhaps 40,000,000 Americans of reproductive age would survive. It has been estimated that the survivors might transmit between 24,000,000 and 960,000,000 new mutations to their children in genes. This sounds like unrelieved disaster, and many geneticists believe it would be.

But Dr. Newell says "A certain percentage of mutant genes in our racial inventory may be necessary for health and survival, even though they do entail a certain selective mortality."

By "selective mortality" he was referring to the fact that in nature a species rids itself of unwholesome genes through the device of premature death. This, he said, is "not nearly so cruel as the natural law which appears to doom all species to win their survival by fighting and killing."

Shortening Sail?

PROCEEDING for two years now, reduction in headquarters' and other staffs of the B.C. Power Commission to the extent that has taken place and is said now to be in prospect is bound to raise some questions. Mines Minister Kiernan in referring to the prospective laying off of 50 employees from the engineering and draughting branch of the commission said that economy and not policy was involved. Immediate projects in hand had come to an end and the level of present staffing was not needed to effect the purposes of the commission, he intimated.

That was not what the government said, however, when it recently created a five-man power commission to handle what it said was an expanding field of influence for the B.C. Power Commission. The addition of two cabinet ministers to a board reorganized under new leadership, and a much larger appropriation in the public accounts for the policy-making body emphasized the pronouncement at that time.

It is true that since 1957 several large-scale developments under the commission have been completed, and that there may now be a lull in its construction program in consequence. In the same period, also, the work force under the commission has been reduced by 1,000, from 2,200 to 1,200. This week's announcement that 12 members of the headquarters staff of the engineering branch had been laid off, and that 40 others might be similarly treated by the end of this year would appear as a continuation of the trend.

It is difficult to reconcile this writing down of the permanent staffs of the B.C. Power Commission and the letting go of trained personnel from its main office with what the government has said about the Columbia River and the Peace River power developments. Both are vast projects, and both have been held up to the public as imminent. The power commission's role, it was asserted, would be to develop the Columbia when international accord had been reached on that development. Almost once a week the public is being assured that accord on the Columbia River development is expected early. If that is so, is this the time to shorten sail in the work force under the public power commission?

On the policy level, has the government come to the belief that the private Peace River development will come first and that the Columbia scheme may be postponed? If so, what was the need for a five-man commission and the enlarged policy-making setup?

CD Fills the Breach

CIVIL defence is the unwanted and very largely neglected child of the various governments. When there is no immediate threat of war and when also there is doubt as to the line civil defence should pursue it is hard to arouse and maintain public interest in it. Against the possibility of swift and widespread atomic destruction civil defence may appear rather futile. Yet if it is regarded as preparedness not just for enemy attack but against disaster in any form the value of civil defence becomes more apparent.

An illustration of that was provided by the Lanark disaster. Like many other Canadian communities, Lanark had no civil defence organization of its own. Luckily for the stricken people, however, the disaster area lay within easy reach of the most highly trained civil defence installation in the country, the federal school at Arnprior, where key members of CD organizations throughout the country receive their training.

In no time at all CD experts from Arnprior arrived at Lanark with a fire-fighting and rescue team, pumps and hoses, truckloads of food and blankets, portable generating plants to supply power and light, and experienced volunteers to keep watch through the night after Lanark's regular firemen had succumbed to exhaustion. Because of the ready availability of this assistance disaster was saved from turning into utter chaos.

Commenting on this convincing demonstration of the peacetime value of civil defence, the Ottawa Journal says: "As Lanark showed, there is a vital role for trained, local, semi-professional volunteers in disasters too great for the ordinary resources of police and firemen. After the lesson of Lanark we might all examine our consciences in this matter, and perhaps the federal authorities will do the same."

Because of uncertainty about defence policy generally, civil defence groups in Victoria and most parts of Canada are going through a difficult time. Lanark was a tragedy, but disasters sometimes serve a useful purpose.

Where He Belongs

THERE have been so many traitors in recent years the word has almost lost its sting, but Klaus Emil Fuchs' name will always leave a lingering distaste. Here was a man of superior intellectual attainment who betrayed the hands that fed him and gave him refuge. Nor, having been caught in the end, did he ever indicate regret or remorse for his misdeeds.

The German physicist was released this week from the English prison he richly deserved, after having served some nine years of a 14-year sentence. Dispatches describe him as having paid his debt to society, but his was a debt that will never be fully paid. The secret atomic information he passed on to Soviet Russia over a period of seven years still haunts the Western world.

Looking back it seems incredible that even so brilliant a scientist should have been trusted as Fuchs was by British, Canadian and American authorities. He was a known Communist, and despite his opposition to Nazism should have been sufficiently suspect not to warrant the highly privileged roles allotted to him. The West was desperate for his skills, of course, and during the war and for some time after the partnership with Russia against Hitler beclouded the greater menace that existed in the ambitions of the Soviet state.

Fuchs has been taken back to the East Germany he came from. Doubtless he will be a scientific asset to the Communist regime of that half of divided Germany, or directly to the Kremlin itself. But he is where he belongs, in a company that has no respect for virtue or honor or the sacred nature of trust. Even the prison that housed him for the past nine years is well rid of him.

Others of his ilk have been uncovered in the postwar years, but none so damaging in their traitorous conduct. One trusts he provides an object lesson for the West, and that even in grave future emergency authority will not again be so naive as to be so easily hoodwinked.

Interpreting the News

Peron's Shadow Hovers

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE Peronist support that helped Arturo Frondizi to power in Argentina last year has come back to haunt the president and sour his rule.

The 50-year-old lawyer-president denies he ever had any pact with the followers of exiled dictator Juan Peron. Doubtless he has as little regard for Peron now as in pre-revolutionary days when he was one of the dictator's most outspoken foes.

But it is on the record that Peron urged his admirers to vote for Frondizi in the February, 1958, elections. Some estimates have placed the number who did so at about 1,500,000. Another 500,000 balked, casting blank ballots instead.

Students of Latin America considered these figures in themselves startling since they apparently showed that Peron—2½ years after being driven from the country—still wielded influence over 20 per cent of the Argentine electorate.

Peronists claimed that Frondizi owed his victory to them, since his margin over the People's Radical Party and candidate Ricardo Balbin was approximately 1,500,000. But Frondizi's camp denied this, saying the Peronist vote estimate was exaggerated and merely served to extend the margin.

At any rate, it is significant that Frondizi's victory resulted from adroit tight-rope walking that pleased supporters ranging from his own Radical Party to Nationalists and Peronists on the right and Communists on the left.

Observers predicted that a political honeymoon among such natural enemies was bound to lead to some kind of explosion, especially during a period of extreme economic hardship.

The present crisis, erupted after publication of the alleged pre-election pact between Frondizi and Peron—a pact which, the president has publicly sworn, never existed. The Peronists complained their party has not recovered its legal status or property as promised.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sailing was—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I SUPPOSE that until one becomes 85 himself he doesn't know what he might or might not do at that age.

No octogenarian I know however thinks of taking "youth" pills. Most of them are content to have had a good innings without trying to prolong it by synthetic means.

This is not to say that at 85 one should sit down and wait for the end. But it seems rather greedy to want more than nature is ready to give.

In the case of the Dean of Canterbury one might think he would hesitate to tempt providence in this respect, as though to imply he had not been given enough grace.

The "Red" Dean, as he is so familiarly known, has been quiescent of late, happily enough since his vocal indiscretions have not always been compatible with his ecclesiastical eminence. But he came back to prominence this week by revealing that en route from Russia he brought home from Communist Romania a "substance H3" which has restored something of his pristine powers. He feels and acts years younger, he says.

One doesn't know whether this is good or bad news. Hopeful aspirants for the Canterbury deanery probably won't be cheered, and if this means a revival of the Communist line to which he has been addicted—paradoxically surely as a high dignitary of such a see—the wish might be that he had stayed home, or, once there, had remained behind the iron curtain. As Churchill once said of Bernard Shaw, he has not been much help to England, nor indeed to the cause of his church anywhere.

About this time a year ago I wandered around his cathedral hoping out of curiosity I might see or meet him. I was told that in the precincts of Canterbury he was a mellow, courteous and pleasing old gentleman. He could be all of that, I suppose, even if his mental bent has been to depreciate the Christian civilization in which he holds high office and extol the virtues of an atheistic Kremlin regime. Strange things may be reconciled in one person; by that one person if by no one else.

The Dean brought home a three-month supply of his youth drug and apparently has a daily injection. The treatment is indefinite, and if he decides to continue it he will send to Romania for more supplies.

As I say, this could be a disturbing development, and one not welcomed too much by his Archbishop. The relations between these two, if ever disclosed, should be interesting; one the head of a great religious order and the other a chief disciple who has offended the beliefs of many of the flock by his partisanship of a godless oligarchy.

To the world at large—the charitable view of Dean Johnson is that he has just had been buzzing under his clerical bonnet; one hopes the rejuvenation treatment doesn't set them buzzing more busily than ever.

Reports From Ottawa

OUT of the country's emotional flap over a TV performer's naive gaffe should come some thoughtful analyses of just what the Queen and the Crown mean to Canadians.

A Toronto psychiatrist suggests that Joyce Davidson unwittingly struck at the thing which gives Canadians their identity, namely the Queen. Then he went on to assert that Canadians see the Queen as the symbol of "the good and beloved mother."

This intimation that Canadians have a sort of national Oedipus complex is a pretty far-fetched notion. Especially when you remember that the warmth with which Canadians greeted George VI in 1939 was just as great as that being extended to his daughter 20 years later.

But the psychiatrist is right in saying that Miss Davidson seemed to her critics to be striking at a revered national symbol which in large measure gives Canadians their identity, setting them apart from Americans. I would guess that the Queen's role as a national symbol is by far her most important, so far as this country is concerned.

The Queen is also chief of state, the apex of the pyramid of government. This is very important—constitutionally, legally and politically. But this role is one that others can fill as well as she. Indeed, they do, in the persons of governors-general.

She is commander-in-chief of the armed forces, a position in which I believe no elective or appointive chief of state could function as well. The sovereign as commander-in-chief bestirs, not only in military breasts, the emotion of personal loyalty and the ancient bond of fealty.

The ties to the Crown which the young Queen personifies have survived a thousand years, but their roots are many thousands of years farther back, in tribal society. They give Canada an inner strength, apart altogether from considerations of Commonwealth kinship and alliances, which the nation would lack if the man at the top were an elected president, or even a traditionless home-grown king.

This strength flowing from the Crown contributes to stable, honest and dedicated government; to national unity and character, to national identity.

Those who don't understand this may consider the royal tour across the country as a sort of circus parade to which they can be indifferent or not, depending on whether they like circus parades.

Miss Davidson said she is indifferent. But she is quite wrong in believing that most Canadians feel indifference. The bias may be indifferent. The stupid may be. The self-thought sophisticates may be. But events of the last few days have proved that the Queen means a good deal to most Canadians, even though many of them may have difficulty finding words for a reason better than "because she's the Queen."

I have never noticed, as Miss Davidson suggests, a lessening of affection for the Crown because of the heavy post-war influx of immigrants of non-British origin. Miss Davidson's argument overlooks, I think, the average immigrant's desire to become a Canadian as quickly as possible. That means accepting and identifying himself with things Canadian, accepting Canada's ways as his ways, Canada's queen as his queen.

While Miss Davidson made an error, she is paying for it. I hope public criticism of her will stop short of persecution, because in balance maybe we should be glad she said what she said. It may clear the air of recent innuendoes that Canada lacks affection for the Crown, and by prompting us to think it may give us a clearer idea of what Elizabeth II means to us.

Saturation Point

By GREGORY CLARK

AMONG the things we can count on in the next 10 years are these:

Private motor vehicles will not be allowed inside the downtown region of cities. Powerful lobbies of merchants will battle against this regulation, in vain. If you want to come downtown, you take a bus, taxi or subway. Your personal car, taking up far more space than any one individual is entitled to, will have to be parked at an up-town parking lot.

Commercial trucks will not be permitted to make delivery to shops, warehouses and places of business, including hotels and restaurants, between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. All delivery at night. Powerful lobbies of truckers' union, merchants, banks; trust companies and other bodies interested in keeping downtown property prosperous, will fight this tooth and nail. But people wanting to do business in downtown areas will no longer put up with having their taxis and buses held up in the narrow streets by mobs of delivery trucks.

In the larger cities, not hundreds but thousands of millions of dollars of invested capital plus dollar volume of business are involved. From no section of the community should more intelligent vision with regard to traffic and communication be expected. But from recent visits to New York, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco, not to mention Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver it would appear that the attitude of the downtowners generally is that of a gentleman on the roof of his chicken house floating down the Mississippi. He hopes the flood will soon be over, or else somebody will come and rescue him.

America Learning Patience

By MARQUIS CHILDS

AN American official following the ups and downs—mostly downs—of the Geneva conference recalled the other day an incident out of the Potsdam meeting when President Truman confronted Stalin in the president's first exercise of global responsibility.

"Why, say, Jimmy," he remarked to his secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, "we've been here nearly 10 days now and we haven't got a blankety-blank thing out of these people."

Fourteen years after Potsdam we go on thinking that we can polish off the big international problems in a few weeks or a few months and then go on back to normal peacetime pursuits. American impatience comes up against the monumental patience—the long-term, unchanging objectives—of the Russians and the Chinese.

This applies with special force to the area which is today perhaps the principal battleground for the long pull of the two ways of life. Whether India succeeds or fails in raising the standard of living and creating a viable nation out of a conglomeration of diverse peoples and religions is likely to determine the shape of things to come for a very long way in the future.

Happily at the moment things are looking up. Red China is having serious troubles. The "great leap forward" fell far short. It has left behind a snarl of overburdened transport and food deficiencies, with continued tight rationing. The brutal subjugation of Tibet and the persecution of the Dalai Lama have produced throughout Asia anger and indignation.

But equally important is the evidence that this country is beginning to learn the lesson of patience and the long view. The Senate foreign relations committee under the direction of chairman J. William Fulbright has voted to give the Development Loan Fund five years of continuity with $1,000,000,000 a year to be underwritten out of the treasury rather than through annual appropriations.

The advantages of this are obvious. It will be possible to make long commitments—to India's five-year plans, for example—rather than risk each year the political roller coaster of the appropriation committees. President Eisenhower once favored such a plan. If he persists in his present opposition the proposal is likely to be killed.

Senator John F. Kennedy is presently revising the resolution he introduced in February to invite other nations to join in a mission to consult with India on the possibility for joint action to assure fulfillment of India's second five-year plan and the effective design of the third plan. It would be extended to Pakistan, Ceylon and Burma if the joint mission found common development programs. As revised, the resolution would indicate that the mission should be carried out under the umbrella of the World Bank.

The last is important for several reasons. A common approach would be possible to the billion-dollar development of the waters of the Indus River. The water for irrigation has been the source of a fierce dispute between the two countries, coming close to open warfare. Then, too, it would bring Eugene Black, head of the bank, into the picture with the talent for economic statesmanship that he has superbly demonstrated in recent years.

The current breathing spell in the struggle between the two ideologies in Asia may be a kind of last chance for the West. India is in deep trouble over the current five-year plan, which ends in 1961. A bailing-out operation such as has been undertaken by the United States and Britain is not enough.

The third five-year plan, intended to raise living standards 6 per cent a year at a cost of an estimated $26,000,000,000, is incredibly ambitious. The Ford Foundation recently issued a report showing that the gains made in food production scarcely keep up with the galloping population and in three to four years mass hunger is the threat.

The Russians are hinting that they will do much more—from $650,000,000 to $1,000,000,000—in help for the third plan than they have done thus far. This is a challenging moment of decision in a contest that will be won or lost not in years but in decades.

Letters to the Editor

Below the Belt

I have just read an article about the Queen by June Calwood (Look, July 7). I suppose she gets so much a word for it. Also heard about the Davidson woman sounding off about her indifference to the Queen. There was also the article in Maclean's.

These women are hitting below the belt. The Queen cannot reply and would not if she could. She is a grand person whom I for one greatly admire—not because she is royal but because she is doing such a fine job.

Her work for the next six weeks isn't my idea of a holiday, and I wonder how these women who are so free with their criticism would make out in like circumstances. I realize that all things change; but is the United States any better governed by their president than we are by our Queen?

(Mrs.) LILY HEINEKEY.

Lacking Courage

As long as the underlying causes of inflation are confined, it is merely utopian to suppose that individual trade unions can or will do anything other than extort the best possible terms for their members; that is their job, and no amount of talk about "statesmanship" or "responsibility" will alter it. The people want inflation stopped and our elected governments must change the climate in which inflation grows.

It is just that, that no politician so far has had the courage to do, either federal or provincial.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

Apostle of the Usual

I read that the city council may tear down the public market on Cormorant Street to provide a parking place. I also read that Victor Gruen, internationally known as a city planner, and others in his profession, predict that within a few years motor-cars will not be allowed within the centre of cities due to the congestion they cause.

The centres of cities will be public "malls" where people will walk at ease. In other words, the motor-car, which has done so much to take man off his feet, will be the means of putting him back upon them. Parking places will be obsolete.

I wonder: has our city council already become so? Buenos Aires and other cities of South America, which some of us are content to regard as "backward," years ago adopted the practice of clearing the shopping districts of wheeled traffic at certain hours. In Buenos Aires in the cool of the day on the pavement of Calle Florida the girls in white dresses walk "quarto de frente," four abreast. This is a sight which I have still to witness in Victoria. Instead, we have "parking places" (flooded old Victoria) that unremittingly apostle of the usual, the obvious—she never lets one down! Up with the parking places! Down with the girls who walk four abreast!

HOWARD OHAGAN.

218 St. Andrews Street.

Mere Stupidity

Allow me to send you my sincere approval and agreement with your editorial on William Head "open" prison.

I have been privileged to make up a visiting group both to the penitentiary at New Westminster and to William Head, and most heartily agree that the foremost element in the recent escapes from the latter institution is the stupidity of the men concerned.

Having also visited prisons in England, including Maidstone and Gloucester, I think the meritorious experiment being carried out at William Head is to be complemented in the extreme and the mere fact that there have been two cases of "AWL" for it really amounts to this: the institutional camp should not cause a clamor for its closing. There are probably much more dangerous types daily being given lifts amongst the hitchhiking element, without complaint by the motoring public.

I do agree, however, that an attempt, difficult though it may be, should be made by those concerned in screening the inmates chosen to live in this privileged Government institution, so that the possible escape element and consequent citizen apprehension, could be kept to a minimum.

Indian Probe Backed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Labor Minister Wicks said Wednesday he agrees with the suggestion of a Prince Rupert city council committee that a full-scale inquiry should be held into Indian affairs.

Mr. Wicks said such an inquiry, suggested by a committee investigating last August's riot in the northern coastal city, might prove "a very worthwhile effort." The committee suggested that the inquiry take the form of a royal commission on the Indian Act.

The minister said he agreed with the committee's finding that action is needed to end discrimination against Indians and to promote their integration into the white community.

The three-man committee submitted its report to Prince Rupert city council Tuesday. It found discrimination against Indians partly to blame for the three-hour riot Aug. 3, 1958, in which 20 persons were injured and 39 persons were arrested.

After Weeks of Research

Police Map Traffic Control To Handle Queen's Visit

Weeks of research and on-the-spot studies by Victoria police were embodied in an elaborate royal tour traffic control blueprint released yesterday by Deputy Chief Harry Mercer.

Mr. Mercer said the plan "is designed to prevent as much congestion as possible while simultaneously offering the royal party and the general public the maximum freedom of movement."

He said the plan can work only at maximum efficiency if the walking and motoring public co-operate.

RIGID ENFORCEMENT

He also added that rigid enforcement of the regulations are necessary to success of the scheme.

Royal tour traffic control commences on the afternoon of July 16 when, at 3.20, the giant tri-service parade moves to the Parliament Buildings from Athletic Park for the colorful march past.

All traffic must keep off the routes of the royal tour and tri-service parades and traffic will be barred from the Parliament Buildings area at 4.30 p.m.

TRAFFIC HALTED

The area in which traffic movement will be halted is bounded by Humboldt and Government, Douglas, Superior and Oswego.

Motorists wishing to leave Victoria on the 5 p.m. Washington State Ferry are warned by police to get to the dock as early as possible.

Parking will be prohibited after 3 p.m. on Oswego Street between Superior and Belleville, Belleville between Douglas and Oswego, Menzies be-

STREETS CLOSED

On Friday, July 17, streets in the Beacon Hill Park area will be closed to traffic at 9.30 a.m., well in advance of the civic reception ceremony and the presenting of the color by Queen Elizabeth to the Princess Pats.

Parking will be prohibited from 7 a.m. onwards in the area.

Parking will not be permitted on the east side of Government Street between Belleville and Humboldt after 11 a.m.

BLOCKED SHORTLY

Movement of traffic in the Empress Hotel area will be blocked shortly before the arrival of the royal entourage at the hotel for a provincial luncheon and will be blocked before departure of the Queen for Clover Point at 2.30 p.m.

In the Clover Point area traffic closure will come at 12.30 p.m. along Cook, Dallas Road, May, Moss and Memorial Crescent.

Parking will be prohibited after 12 noon in Beacon Hill Park, Heywood Avenue and Park Boulevard to Dallas Road, on Dallas from Cook to Clover Point, on Moss from Dallas to Rockland and on Rockland from Moss to Government House.

Parking will be restricted throughout the duration of the

'Something Wrong In RCMP'

OTTAWA (CP)—Ontario CCF member Arnold Peters accused the RCMP in a Commons debate Wednesday of brutality, strike-breaking, rowdiness and promotion of violence.

He said the conduct of the RCMP during labor troubles in Newfoundland and at the Six Nations Indian reservation near Brantford, Ont., was an "insult" to a national police body.

He demanded a full investigation so that the RCMP's good name could be "restored."

Mr. Peters said "something is wrong in the RCMP" when "this type of brutality" can occur as it had when members of the force beat up people on the streets of Winnipeg in 1919 and "beat up hobos who were trying to find a place to lay their heads down" during the depression.

Justice Minister said law enforcement is not always a glamorous job, but it is essential for protection of society, and police deserve praise for doing their duty, even if it is unpleasant at times.

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI)—Two men suspected of being members of a gang that stole the fabulous $275,000 Krupp diamond were jailed here today in lieu of $25,000 bonds after being expelled from Mexico.

The two, Marian Carter Bowman, 37, and William Sneed Davie, 43, were arrested Tuesday by three FBI agents as they crossed the border at this international port.

Bowman and Davie were brought to Nuevo Laredo, across the Rio Grande from this city, by Mexican federal officers.

They were brought before U.S. Commissioner Frank Hill yesterday, who set the temporary bonds at a brief hearing which was continued until next Wednesday.

The Krupp diamond, a 33.6 carat stone, was recovered May 22 at Newark, N.J., when FBI agents arrested three other alleged members of the gang. The diamond, mounted in a ring, was stolen at gunpoint from Mrs. Vera Krupp, divorced wife of a German munitions tycoon, at her ranch near Blue Diamond, Nev., last April 10.

James George Reeves, his wife, Mary Jo, and Julius Berger were arrested at Newark and the diamond was found hidden in the lining of Reeve's coat.

Davie and Bowman were held here on conspiracy to transport diamonds in interstate commerce.

Davie objected to the high bond. "It's kind of high for a conspiracy charge," he said.

Hill told him he set the bond on the recommendation of the U.S. attorney in New Jersey and that he was continuing the hearing until next Wednesday until papers from New Jersey could arrive.

Bowman gave his address as San Angelo, Tex., and said he was a golf pro. Davie said he is a salesman and has no permanent address but that he was born at Lone Wolf, Okla.

125,000 Pounds

Fishermen Claim Record

A Vancouver-based fishing boat has landed what the skipper claims is the biggest single catch sold on the coast.

The 85-foot halibut boat Chief Skudaid landed 125,000 pounds of Bering Sea halibut in Victoria this week. Skipper Herman Gulbransen and his crew will share an estimated $27,600.

In competition with fleets from Russia, Japan and the United States, skipper Gulbransen says he has landed 375,000 pounds since the Bering Sea season started April 1.

This makes his vessel top boat in the Pacific Northwest, he claims.

House Up for Sale, Ground the Planes!

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mayor Thomas B. Findlay of neighboring St. James says some residents have complained about the noise from the nearby Winnipeg International Airport. One woman recently phoned him, he said, and asked: "Mr. Mayor, will you please have the planes on the north-south runways grounded Saturday morning? Our house is up for sale and we have a prospect coming."

Bigger Share in Defence

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional sources predicted yesterday that Canada would demand a greater share of American defence production when the American delegation of 12 senators and 12 house members will make history in itself. This is the first time Congress has established direct, formal relations with the legislative body of another nation.

The Canadians are expected to voice strong arguments for more U.S. defence work.

Canada contends that it is hard for their firms to bid successfully on American contracts because of the "Buy American" Act and limited information available.

The Canadians also are expected to ask for some explanation of the congressional controversy over the merits of the Bomarc and Nike-Zeus missiles.

Meanwhile Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn.), a member of the U.S. delegation, said the American-Canadian defence program "must be better unified."

"There are three lines of radar stations across Canada to protect the United States and Canada," he said. "All of these are co-ordinated under an American commander-in-chief down in Colorado Springs. All sorts of frustration can develop there."

"Furthermore," Judd said, "The Canadians are very anxious for a chance to help produce the machinery for this (joint) defence program—in- stead of the equipment coming from Pittsburgh and other places in the United States."

Relax Immigration Laws Chinese-Canadians Plead

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was urged Wednesday to relax its immigration barriers against relatives of Chinese-Canadians and to establish an annual quota of no fewer than 500 Chinese for admittance to Canada in the next five years.

"We submit that the day is long gone when we can, as a nation or as a government, set one people beneath another," the Chinese Benevolent Association said in a brief to Immigration Minister Fairclough.

The association proposed:

1. Removal of the restriction on admittance of unmarried children of Chinese over 21.
2. Lowering of age limits on entry of fathers and mothers of Chinese-Canadians to 60 and 55 respectively from 65 and 60.
3. Free entry of grandchildren and adopted children and grandchildren.
4. A 500-a-year quota for the next five years to permit entry of many professional men who have taken refuge in Hong Kong.
5. Entry of male fiancés to marry in this country.
6. Entry of unmarried children of a second wife or illegitimate children of Chinese-Canadians as long as identity is proven.

The brief described as "almost brutal in its severity" the requirement that one parent must accompany a child being admitted to Canada. It said this penalizes all because of any inability of the parent to travel.

Holdouts on Par Dollars Are Few but Steadfast

Victoria's holdout merchants who accept the United States dollar at par with Canadian money haven't abandoned their stand.

William Laudrum, chairman of Victoria Chamber of Commerce's retail merchants' group, said last night he has not given up his hopes of persuading all Victoria merchants to discount the Yankee dollar, at the present rate of exchange.

The three main reasons given by the holdout merchants are:

money is discounted before they will buy from a store.

Merchants have no wish to antagonize tourists by telling them their money isn't as good as Canadian money, and

The few cents per dollar which is lost to the merchant is offered as an added inducement to the tourist—high Canadian tariffs on imported items have reduced the price difference which used to exist between identical goods sold in Canada and the United States.

Only two or three of the merchants who have been accepting the U.S. dollar at par are still refusing to discount the money.

'Just a Nice Fellow' —Was Robert Service

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN — Robert Service was an ordinary boy.

Sixty years ago he went fishing, hunting and hiking with the young men who lived here then. And he liked to sing.

He gave no hint he was interested in poetry, and was content learning to farm. His only sign of showmanship was his singing at school picnics, barn dances and, once or twice, at church.

REMITTANCE MEN

A lot of Englishmen lived here then as now. Some came from Britain to retire, some were paid to stay away from their homes and became "remitittance" men, and some came to make a new life for themselves. Service was one of the last category.

The man who was later to call himself a "versifier, not a poet," was sent over from England by his parents to become a "mud pup." He was supposed to become a farmer.

FOR TWO YEARS

Service stayed for almost two years with Maj. J. M. Mutter and then moved in with the late Harry Evans, a colorful bachelor who believed in burning the midnight oil.

FIRED THROUGH DOOR

Harry went to one house and knocked at the door. The nervous owner fired a rifle through the door. It barely missed Harry. From that day on he developed a dislike for anyone who panicked while in possession of a gun.

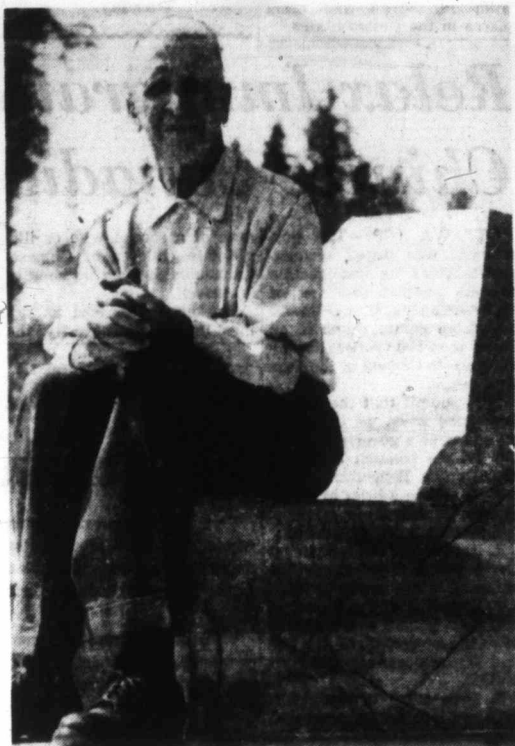

One night Harry returned from one of his nightly visits and entered his house and found himself staring into the muzzle of a gun held by Service.

CATTLE BARON

Service next worked for C. T. Corfield at Cowichan Bay, on property now owned by Teddy Robson, Vancouver Island's cattle baron.

He was still a "pup" and also filled in time by serving settlers in the rustic Corfield store, near the crossing of the Cowichan Bay Road over the Koksilah River.

He learned the Cowichan Indian language which was later used in a Christmas poem he wrote that the bank he then worked at in Victoria used that year on their cards.

By this time he had been in Cowichan about four years, and decided to go into medicine. He gave up his jobs and rented a house near St. Mary's churchyard cemetery on Somers Road.

It was a log house owned by William Drinkwater, one of the district's pioneers. For nine months he studied. He was fed by Mrs. David Evans when he made his nightly visit through the cemetery to buy her bread, and get a free meal.

FAILED HIS TESTS

Service failed his tests. He left to work in a bank shortly after.

The thin young man had been here from the later 1890s to about 1905.

He never returned even though he was in the Pacific Northwest during the Second World War. Only rarely did he write to the friends he had here as a young man.

MOVED TO VICTORIA

Service moved from Victoria to the Yukon where he wrote his poems that made him famous, and rich.

That was 50 years ago. "He was a nice fellow, just ordinary," commented Robert Evans, Lake Cowichan Road, whose mother fed Service while he was studying medicine.

MEMORIAL STONE SEAT

With the aid of other members of the Prevost Post, Native Sons, Mr. Evans collected money for a memorial stone seat. It is half completed. The stone and concrete seat will be within a stone's throw of the site of the store he worked in.

Service spent only a short time of his life here but "the good things of the past should be remembered," said Mr. Evans.

Norwegian Fire Ends Dream of Retirement

A dream of Victoria retirement for a 57-year-old woman in the Canadian civil service ended amid the tragic ruins of a Norwegian hotel destroyed by fire Tuesday, her sister told the Colonist yesterday.

Mrs. Edith Esson, a widow whose sister, Mrs. E. R. Wylie, lives at 1982 Taylor Street, was last a visitor to Victoria in 1956 and was due to return for another visit next spring. She held a key post with the Canadian labor department in London, acting as selection officer for immigrants, and had often told her sister that she would retire to Victoria when her civil service career came to an end.

Odd Parole Judge's Gift

GREENVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Judge Arthur Held sentenced Norman Tanksley for violation of parole. Once a month for five years, he must go to jail with gifts—"not exceeding value of a carton of cigarettes"—for the prisoners.

"I had a letter from her just last Monday," Mrs. Wylie said last night.

"She was going to Norway with Doris Hutchinson (also presumed dead in the blaze) on a holiday.

"As soon as I read about the fire I was worried. I just thought they might be going to that resort," Mrs. Wylie said.

Prior to overseas service with the labor department Mrs. Esson was a resident of Saskatoon where her husband, a hospital administrator, died in 1950.

After going overseas she first served in Germany and was posted to London in 1952.

TWO MORE BODIES

The fire-wrecked ruins of the Stalheim tourist hotel yielded what appeared to be the bodies of two more victims Wednesday night. If confirmed, the latest finds would raise the known death toll to 12. Another 12 are missing.

The Red Cross said those missing in the Tuesday early-morning fire must be presumed dead.

Three Canadians were listed among the missing, although the husband of one of them, Mrs. Charles Armer of Toronto, said in Toronto that he had received no notification. The Canadian embassy in Oslo said efforts to trace Mrs. Armer Wednesday were unsuccessful, although there had been an unconfirmed report that she had been taken to a hospital in Bergen.

The other Canadians were R. Doris Hutchinson, 51, of Ottawa, an employee of the immigration department, and Mrs. Esson.

None of the 10 bodies recovered so far has been identified.

Busiest Day for Queen, Too

Fast Pace for Ike At Seaway Fetes

MONTREAL (CP)—President Eisenhower will be kept hopping Friday by the Queen of Canada.

In Canada to help the Queen open the St. Lawrence Seaway, he'll fly, walk, ride in a car and sail in a yacht—all in less than 12 hours.

The hectic, historic part will be in a neat triangle of 67 miles, almost all within sight of Montreal Island where Canada's biggest city stands.

Including the Washington flights, the president will travel almost 1,000 miles.

For the Queen, it's the biggest day in a 45-day cross-Canada visit that will also take her to Chicago.

The monarch and the president are to inaugurate the seaway by sailing in the Queen's yacht Britannia through the first two locks. But they won't be the first seaway

News in Brief

BRANDON—Petition claiming that Mayor James Creighton disqualified himself from office by interest in a real estate deal was dismissed in County Court.

VANCOUVER—Premier Bennett said the provincial government has no intention of interfering with a steel-worker's dispute which is holding up $90,000,000 worth of construction, including Second Narrows Bridge.

SEOUL—President Syngman Rhee has called on the U.S. to allow the Republic of Korea to launch an offensive to drive the Communists out of North Korea.

VANCOUVER—Labor Minister Wicks says B.C.'s new Trade Union Act has not in any way crippled or curtailed union organization in the province.

WASHINGTON—Two B-26 bombers successfully intercepted jet drone targets over the Gulf of Mexico more than 100 miles from the launching site.

KELOWNA—President Bill Dew of the B.C. Central Credit Union says B.C. community credit unions are recognized as the world's largest and most successful.

Kobe, Japan—A 2,350-ton destroyer, largest warship built in Japan since the war, was launched and will become flagship of Japan's small post-war navy.

CAIRO—United Arab Republic and Soviet experts agreed to unspecified changes in their proposed working plans for the construction of the Aswan Dam.

PARIS—The French Communist party announced plans for a new campaign for peace negotiations with the Algerian rebels.

Island Pupils Making Trip To Stratford

Two Vancouver Island students are among 23 chosen to represent B.C. at a Canada Council-sponsored visit to the Stratford, Ont., festival July 22 to 24.

They are Sandra McKeachie of Oak Bay Senior High School and Barry Bourque of Ladysmith Junior-Senior High School.

Miss Christine McNab of S. J. Willis Junior High School will be one of three teachers to accompany the group.

Dozen Engineers Laid Off As Power Projects Ended

Completion of B.C. Power Commission projects on Vancouver Island, including the Ash River development, Strathcona development and Georgia generating station has resulted in layoff of 12 members of the commission engineering staff, a B.C.P.C. spokesman said yesterday.

By the end of this year, 50 members of the engineering staff may be laid off. No immediate big projects are scheduled to be undertaken by the B.C.P.C. but several are under consideration.

PERSONAL LOANS

FOR ANY REASONABLE PURPOSE AVAILABLE AT ANY BRANCH OF THE ROYAL BANK

DO YOU NEED MONEY

- ★ to consolidate debts
- ★ to meet insurance premiums
- ★ to pay doctor, dentist or hospital bills
- ★ for educational purposes
- ★ to meet unexpected obligations
- ★ to cover major purchases
- ★ for home improvements?

Personal loans for these and other reasonable purposes are available at any branch of The Royal Bank of Canada to any credit-worthy individual.

Obviously we do not encourage people to assume a debt they will be unable to repay. Such loans can be an embarrassment and a worry to the borrower as well as the bank.

BUT if you have a steady job and are in a position to pay back your loan without undue hardship, by regular monthly instalments, your logical course is to call at your nearest Royal Bank branch. You will find the manager glad to discuss your needs with you and to explain to you the remarkably low rate of interest charged by this bank for personal loans.

Good Reasons Why Every Worker in the Coast Lumber Industry Should

Vote "Yes" Friday

(JUNE 26th)

In the Government-Supervised Strike Vote

1. A sweeping "Yes" vote on Friday, June 26th, is now the only means by which proper attention may be secured for the legitimate demands of coast lumber workers. Employer-dominated conciliation results have sidetracked consideration of the employees' welfare.
2. A sweeping "Yes" vote will show that the lumber workers know that the employers are well able to pay higher wages than those offered through the Conciliation Board's Report, and that they will, if necessary, refuse to accept conditions of employment worse than the industry can easily provide.
3. The employers' wage offer provides an average wage increase of four cents an hour over a three-year period. Also, the employers' proposals will weaken existing contract conditions. A wage increase must compensate for rising living costs, or real wages will be cut, with the wage dollar buying fewer and fewer groceries.
4. American employers in the fir belt immediately south of the border, with the same type of operations, shipping to the same markets, for the same prices, have granted wage increases amounting to 30 cents an hour since the last increase for B.C. coast lumber workers. In the same period Interior lumber workers have gained an increase amounting to 23 cents an hour. Skilled workers in the lumber industry, which produces 50 per cent of the province's wealth, should not be forced to accept lower wages than those paid for comparable work.
5. The industry was never in better shape to pay the wage increase demanded. Production is up to full capacity. Shipments are greater than previously. Order files are the highest recorded. Prices have risen on an average of 25%. Output per man-hour has increased—fewer men produce more lumber. If the employers will not deal fairly with their employees this year, it means that they never intend to do so.
6. The fears expressed by the employers have been repeatedly proven groundless. The industry has not been priced out of its export markets. In a period without any wage increases, sales volume and prices have risen together. Export markets for lumber have improved with the improved ability of British Columbians to buy the goods with which customers abroad pay for B.C. exports. Adequate distribution of wages to lumber workers, who form the largest single group of industrial workers in the province, stimulates community business activity.

To get fair contract conditions, prevailing wage rates and adequate living standards,

Here's a striking view over the infield of Yankee Stadium, New York, where workmen are busily putting up ring and adjacent $100 ringside seats for tonight's heavyweight title fight between Ingemar

Johansson and champion Floyd Patterson. Promoter Bill Rosenzohn expects crowd of nearly 40,000, paying gate of $600,000.—(AP Photofax.)

Rocks Lose Five Straight, Now Alone in Basement

By JIM TANG

"I don't know very much about this game but it seems to me they're not aggressive enough."

The new lacrosse convert was more than half right last night as Victoria Shamrocks played a stout game in goal, stopped McNeill's shot. McNeill drew a penalty for grabbing John Lumley on the return rush, and Lumley cashed in on the free shot.

It took most of the tardy-kindred fire out of the Shamrocks although Fulla had to be good to block Bertola and Ed Kowalyk early in the fourth quarter to keep the three-goal lead intact when there was still time enough left for it to be endangered.

Then the Rocks ruined their dimming hopes in the last half of the quarter by picking up three of the five penalties they drew in the game.

However, while the final score was respectable enough, the Shamrocks will have to start moving the ball and to come up with an odd-man play if the future is to get brighter than it presently appears.

JUST OPPOSITE

It used to be a deadly error, in past seasons, for an opposing team to take a penalty as the Shamrocks rode to the top of the lacrosse heap on the effectiveness of their odd-man play. Today, it's exactly the opposite.

Opponents have long since learned they can take penalties without penalty and don't hesitate to give the lighter Rocks a rough ride when they start in on goal.

Last night was typical. Labatts drew seven of the first eight penalties and nine times played short-handed without cost. In fact, they actually came out ahead when MacKay got his third-quarter goal. On the other hand, Nanaimo needed only 45 seconds to get two goals during the first two Victoria penalties, scored three times in all while Shamrocks played short-handed.

As for moving the ball, the Rocks did it individually, failing to pick up a single assist as they earned their goals the hard way and wasted the ball time and again with bad shots.

Only Baltimore Orioles among the major league pennant contenders gained ground yesterday as four of the five teams scrambling for the American League lead were beaten and Milwaukee Braves won to hold their National League edge.

Success-wise the biggest surprise of the season, the Orioles clambered to within a half game of the American League lead when they homered their way to a 7-4 conquest of the leading Cleveland Indians.

Gus Triandos, Billy Gardner, Walt Nieman and Walt Dore, obtained only the day before in an inter-league waiver deal with Cincinnati, hit home runs for the Orioles, who broke a 4-4 tie with a three-run ninth inning to give Skinny Brown his fifth win in seven decisions.

Chicago White Sox, who were in second place, New York Yankees, who could have gained a share of third place, and Detroit Tigers, having their first losing streak since

Qualicum-Quadra And In Between

Up-Island salmon fishing gets better and better and seems to have hit a new peak during the past week.

Entries received during the past two days in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest show excellent fishing in almost all waters between Qualicum Beach and Campbell River.

They also show that anglers have been tending with good-sized spring salmon often rather than over the winter.

Off Qualicum Beach, anglers have been hooking into springs between 10 and 20 pounds, particularly "just before dark and close in. About two ounces of weight and a Tiny Louie plug has been the most successful tackle combination here.

The southern end, off Quadra Island, off Cape Mudge and Butler's Point, is perhaps the hottest spot of all with a big concentration of springs added to the fine coho fishing making things doubly interesting for anglers.

Shelter Point, Oyster Bay, Little River, and Bates Beach also report excellent fishing and a flood of Contest entries to back it up.

Vital Pony Confab

Most of Vancouver Island's Pony League baseball teams are expected to be represented this weekend at a special interview to be held with District Commissioner Gerwyn Jones of Walla Walla, Wash.

Making a short visit to British Columbia, Jones has requested a meeting with local managers, coaches and officials. The meeting will be held at 4:00 p.m. Saturday at the Hillside Little League clubhouse.

This meeting will also be open to all others interested in Pony League activities. As has been previously announced, the local Carnarvon Pony League all-star team will enter regional playoffs at Walla Walla this season. Final arrangements for the July playdowns will also be discussed at Saturday's meeting.

Plans are also under way to hold a tournament next month to declare a Vancouver Island champion. Competing will be the Mid-Island, Cowichan, Layritz and Carnarvon leagues with the winner receiving a challenge trophy.

Second Big Upset As Neilsen Ousted

Rod Laver of Australia pulled the second big upset in the Wimbledon tennis championships when he defeated seventh-seeded Kurt Neilsen of Denmark, 10-8, 6-4, 7-5, during yesterday's rain-interrupted play.

On Monday, youthful Earl Buckholz of St. Louis did the unexpected when he eliminated third-seeded Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy. Buckholz took another step ahead in the men's singles yesterday with a hard-fought 3-6, 7-5, 11-9, 10-8 decision over Gordon Forbes of South Africa.

Otherwise, however, results have been according to form. First-seeded Alex Olmedo, the Peruvian star of the United States Davis Cup team, moved ahead with a straight-set win over a young South African and second-seeded Neal Fraser of Australia needed only three sets to oust Carlos Fernandes of Brazil.

Tuesday's play was confined to the ladies' singles and saw all eight seeded players advance although top-seeded Christine Truman of England looked anything but impressive in a 6-3, 7-5 win over little-known Shirley Waters of England.

Canada's two entries, Paul Willey of Vancouver and Mrs. Hanna Sladek of Montreal, were both beaten in their first matches.

CARMEN BASILIO will fight Gene Fullmer for the National Boxing Association version of the world middleweight championship at the Cow Palace in San Francisco Aug. 28, a Salt Lake City newspaper said yesterday.

Meanwhile, Joseph F. Walker, athletic commissioner for New Jersey, has given conditional approval to champion (?) Ray Robinson to defend his title in Jersey City.

... open tennis tournaments within the next two years is a prediction making the rounds at the current Wimbledon tennis tournament in England. It's reported that the first major step toward changing tennis laws will be taken in Dublin July 8 at the annual meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Conference and that the first tournament affected will be the 1960 U.S. championships at Forest Hills.

BEUFORD BAILY of Big Springs, Neb., has joined a select group of less than 10 trapshooters, breaking 100 straight in doubles at the Colorado State shoot in Denver. Brooks M. Kelley of Chicago has claimed a world record for yellowfin tuna, boating a 226½-pounder while fishing off the Kona coast of Hawaii on Tuesday.

Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four have announced the signing of Ken Pieger, 240-pound tackle who started last season with the Chicago Bears.

B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have confirmed that they have signed Willie Fleming, star Negro halfback of the University of Iowa. He scored 11 touchdowns and averaged 8.8 yards per carry last season.

the leading tenpin bowlers in the United States added to his laurels this week by rolling two consecutive 300 games in Miami. Second baseman Billy Martin injured his shoulder Tuesday and is lost to the Cleveland Indians for an indefinite period.

Vancouver Mounties have sold righthander Bud Watkins to Phoenix, also of the Pacific Coast Baseball League. In an inter-league waiver deal, Cincinnati Reds have exchanged first basemen with Baltimore Orioles, getting Whitey Lockman for Walt Dropo.

Charlie Trippi, former National Football League great, will join Edmonton Eskimos of the WFL as a special training camp coach starting July 2.

Japanese Bicycle Fans Riot; Two Riders Accused of 'Fix'

CHIBA, Japan (AP) — Hundreds of enraged Japanese bicycle racing fans smashed windows and bicycles and set a fire at a nearby track Tuesday night, complaining that a race was fixed.

Police who quelled the disturbance with 300 riot squadsmen, said more than 100 racing bicycles were smashed and others commandeered by spectators for an impromptu protest race around the track. No injuries were reported but four persons were arrested.

A two-storey building was damaged by fire.

The management appeased the angry crowd by suspending for one year two star riders accused of "throwing" their races and paying taxi fare home to several score spectators.

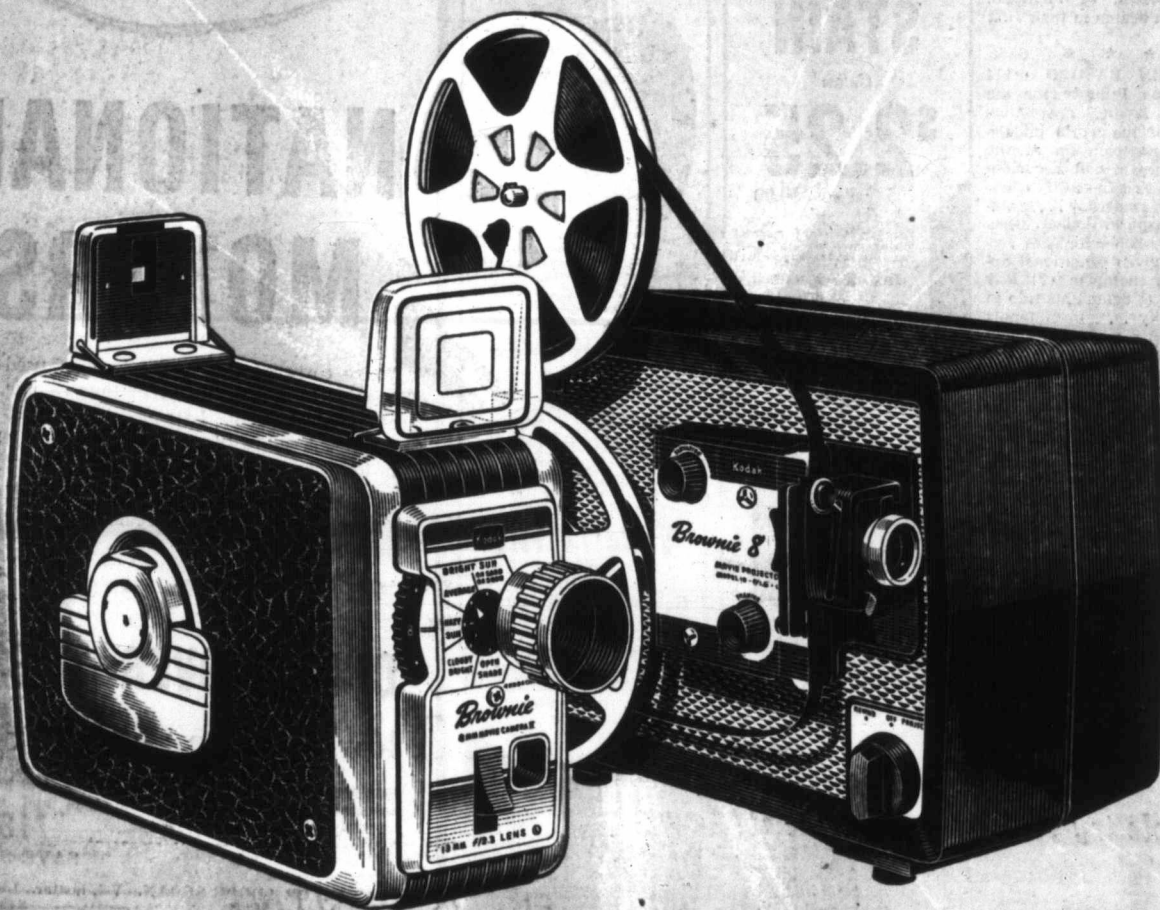

Bicycle racing is Japan's most popular form of legalized gambling.

Ford Rises Nine Points For New High

TORONTO (CP) — Industrial scores their best advance in two weeks but the stock market was easier. Among industrials, Aluminum was the only one of the five most active to gain. Three were unchanged.

Ford featured the industrial list, rising 9 at 187. Albitibi and Canadian Celanese were ahead 2 at 226.

International Nickel dipped 1 at 92 while Falconbridge was down 1/2 at 25 1/2 and Consolidated Mining 1/2 at 19 1/2.

Hudson's Bay was up 1/2 at 16 1/2 but few other western oils gained. Calgary and Edmonton and Home B dipped 1/2 while Royalite was off 25 cents at $7.65.

Aluminum Gain

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were mixed and slightly lower. Metals were mixed. Aluminum was up 3/4 at 34 1/2 and Canadian British Aluminum up 1/2 at 15. Hudson Bay dropped 1/2 to 16 1/2.

Steels were firm. National Steel Car rose 1/2 to 17 1/2 and Steico was up 1/2 to 79.

In generally lower oils, Texaco dropped one point to 73 and Imperial Petroleum lost 1/2 to 49 1/2. Imperial Oil rose 1/2 to 39 1/2.

Papers were mixed and two new lows established. International Paper at 108, down 2 1/2, and M. & O. at 31, down 2 1/2.

Banks slipped, with Canadian at 57 1/2 and Montreal at 59 1/2 each down 1/2.

Electronics Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market mounted a brisk rally as steel, metals and electronics set the pace.

Electronics surged ahead a midlist renewed speculative buying. Texas Instruments rose 6 1/2, and General Tire 7.

Chemicals, aluminum, airlines and tobacco joined in the rise. Oils and aircraft remained ragged.

American Motors was the most active stock, up 1 1/2 at 124 1/2 on 134,000 shares.

Royal Dutch was up 1/2 at 41, and Standard Oil New Jersey off 1/2 at 49 1/2.

Oils Weaken

WACOON — Oil stocks were particularly weak with Home B2 at $13 1/2, Vantor at 73 cents and Basco at 68 1/2 cents.

Bethlehem at 145 was the major loser among metals, although Cragmont at $4 and Giant Mascot at 22 cents were both lower. Pacific Nickel advanced 60 cents.

MacMillan at $38 1/2 and Woodward at $21 1/2 were stronger among industrials, but TransCanada Pipe Line was softer at $25.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP) — The London stock market moved uncertainly with prices mostly shaded.

Some bright features developed, notably of take-overs and bids kept activity going. Gilchrist was quiet and industrial prices fractionally lower.

Oils were dull and gold and coppers were featureless.

Canada's exports of crude oil in 1958 were valued at $73,000,000 against imports of $274,000,000.

'Bloated' Stocks Hurt Recovery

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The President of one of Canada's leading banks said in the Victoria yesterday he would hesitate to buy equity shares at the present high levels.

A. C. Ashford, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank and president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in an off-the-cuff talk to directors of the local Chamber said he thought the improvement in business conditions had been discounted in advance by the stock market.

"The stock market is being used as a hedge by those who believe that the greatest economic emphasis is on inflation," he said. Many stocks were so highly priced that they were selling 20-25 times their earnings.

TIGHT MONEY

The T.D. Bank president said there was absolutely no doubt that we are in a new era of tight money, and he placed the responsibility for this state of affairs right on the lap of the Bank of Canada.

The Canadian banks have made new loans of $550,000,000 this year and another $700,000,000 might be needed by the year end.

"Yet," said Mr. Ashford, "Mr. Coyne (governor of the Bank of Canada) has not increased the flow of cash since last December. He is obviously trying to hold the line, and I am not sure that we can do all we want with the money which is going to be available."

MR. MOST GOOD

Mr. Ashford said the banks would be forced into the position of lending available money because of the shortage of money for NHA loans. Mr. Ashford expected that the number of building starts in Canada would this year be down to 130,000 (against 163,000 last year).

"NHA loans at 6 per cent repayable over 20 years are not particularly attractive to

Interest Ceiling 'Great Mistake'

OTTAWA (CP) — James Muir, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, said Wednesday the 6 per cent interest ceiling on bank loans is a "great mistake."

He told the Senate finance committee that a "state of absurdity" would be reached if the rate on government treasury bills goes to 6 per cent or more.

In this case, there would be no point in a bank risking a loan at 6 per cent while it could put the money into treasury bills and earn 6 per cent or more.

Last week the treasury bill rate was 5.47 per cent.

U.S.-U.K. MERGER

Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd., Britain's largest chemical company, is to join American Company of America in a new company to be known as Imperial-Aluminum Co. Ltd., subject to approval of the British treasury.

ICI will hold 51 per cent of the new company and Alcoa 49 per cent.

The company's aim will be to expand the world market for aluminum.

Remember When:

A world record of 1:58.14 for the 1¼-mile distance was set at Golden Gate racetrack in Albany, Calif., nine years ago today by Noor, the Irish-bred colt sold by the Aga Khan to the late Charles S. Howard. The five-year-old Noor just a week previously set a mark of 1:46.45 for the 1½-mile route, since equalled by Aldon, Swaps, Gen. Duke and Round Table.

Do Your Children Run Your Home?

The family can be a unique character-building institution... or it can be dominated by a small tyrant. In July Reader's Digest the mother of 4 children and the grandmother of 11 shows what happens when parents give in to children—wrongly afraid of losing their love. It's up to you, says the author, whether you live for your children—or with them. Get your copy today: 35 articles of lasting interest.

Did Boredom Cause William Head Break?

Suggestion that sheer boredom may have inspired last Sunday's break by four inmates of William Head "model" prison was discounted strongly yesterday by John Grant, superintendent of the open-type institution.

The Colonist learned yesterday that the "boredom" theory had been advanced by a former William Head inmate.

USED TO ACTION

"They are young fellows out there, for the most part," the former inmate was quoted as saying. "They're used to activity. Even at the penitentiary in New Westminster, they were kept busier than at William Head."

"Out there (at William Head), they just painted and repainted, or moved something here today and back again tomorrow. It's not enough."

THEY'RE BUSIER

This was denied by Mr. Grant, who said: "We keep them busier than at New Westminster."

Lawyers' Rally In Nanaimo

NANAIMO — The B.C. Law Society and B.C. Branch, Canadian Bar Association convention opens in Nanaimo today. The two-day convention will draw between 150 and 200 lawyers to the hub city.

Minister of Conservation and Recreation Earle C. Westwood will open the convention at 9:15 this morning.

Chief Justice A. C. Desbrisay is scheduled to give an address at the convention banquet at 8 p.m. today.

"There's plenty for them to do here. We work the men close to an eight-hour day. At New Westminster, with more than 700 inmates, they can only provide enough work, well stretched out, to fill a five-and-a-half-hour day."

VARIETY, TOO

"There's sufficient work and a variety of work. They're kept busy on the roads, in the gardens and grounds, on the buildings."

"Just today, we received 12 typewriters—first step in the planned establishment of vocational training in a commercial course."

MORE TO COME

"There's more equipment to come for this course," Mr. Grant went on, "and an instructor to be engaged. Meanwhile, the men will be busy remodelling one of the buildings here to house the course. Plumbing, wiring, painting—all this is necessary."

"The same will be true for a proposed vocational training

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Radio Palace Red Weapon

ROME (UPI)—Albania is building a giant "radio palace" to become Moscow's propaganda voice in the Mediterranean area. The usually-reliable Agenzia Contintale said Albania has been assigned a major role in beaming propaganda against Italy, Greece and Turkey and mid-eastern countries. To carry out the role, the Reds are building a 30-studio "palace of radio" in Tirana.

Space Ship on Cable 'Can Be Built Now'

SEATTLE (AP)—A reactor-powered space ship which could keep going for a year at cosmic speed can be built now, a space scientist said Wednesday.

Dr. Gail Shook, a physicist at the Lockheed missile and space laboratory, Palo Alto, Calif., said the device would consist of a nuclear reactor about the size of an oil drum, a passenger cabin and a piece of coaxial cable a mile long.

In space, the reactor would be at one end of the cable and the cabin at the other.

The reactor would supply electrical current which would flow along the cable to the rear end of the cabin. There the current would convert atoms of cesium, a rare metal, into charged particles and cause them to act like hot gases coming out of a jet.

The cable would tow the reactor, which would be far enough away from the cabin to prevent exposure of the passengers to radiation. Two rockets, for reactor and cabin, would launch the unit in space.

Strangler Forces Cage To Kill Zoo's Emu

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Someone broke into the emu cage at Roger Williams Park and strangled one of the huge birds. Martin Noonan, park superintendent, said that the ground nearby looked as if a terrific struggle had taken place.

Daring Rebel Force Wiped Out in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—A desperate Algerian rebel commando unit was trapped and wiped out Wednesday within sight of the sea-port city of Bone, apparently the objective of the daring attack.

A French army communiqué said 31 rebels were killed and 15 captured as thousands of French troops, supported by jet planes and tanks, crushed the reckless advance toward the main seaport in eastern Algeria, largest assault ever attempted on a big Algerian city.

According to the French, not a single nationalist escaped in the eight-hour battle which started about 4 a.m. and ended shortly after noon. Planes dropped incendiary bombs on the rebel positions and infantry, backed up by tanks, stormed their hastily constructed strongholds.

Six French soldiers died in the operation the French said. The heavily outnumbered rebels swept past two small army posts at dawn, after cutting their way through the electrified line of barbed wire along the Tunisian-Algerian frontier. French troops in the area of the city of about 150,000 quickly deployed to cut off their advance toward the city itself.

The rebel unit was outfitted with uniforms and equipped with automatic weapons. It apparently had been specially trained for dangerous missions.

Biggest Cache of Arms Uncovered In Havana Raid by Castro Forces

HAVANA (UPI)—Police yesterday reported they had seized the largest cache of illegal arms uncovered since the triumph of Fidel Castro's revolution last Jan. 1.

Police said the arsenal, discovered in a private home in Havana's El Vedado suburb, included more than 100 automatic weapons and an undisclosed number of hand grenades and ammunition belts. Unofficial reports said several persons were arrested in connection with the haul.

In a second arms seizure, police raided the downtown hotel room of a former policeman, Alberto Palacios, where they found 35 sticks of dynamite, two large bombs, three packages of explosives and nine smaller home-made bombs.

Palacios was arrested and charged with terrorist activities.

Responds to Treatment

Mystery Man Regains His Memory

Victoria's mystery man amnesia patient at Royal Jubilee Hospital, has regained his memory.

Robert George Stanley Jervis, 21, an employee of Trans-Canada Air Lines in Vancouver, responded "completely" to further treatment administered yesterday afternoon, hospital officials announced.

He will be kept in hospital for a time, however, for further observation and to ease his return to normalcy.

Jervis was found early last Thursday, lying unconscious on the sidewalk in the 900 block of Yates. The three young men who found him took him to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where it was discovered there were no cards or marks of identification of any kind.

His picture, printed in the Colonist Saturday morning, brought no local response, but a local hotel brought in a suit coat matching trousers worn by the man, found in a room registered to an "R. Jervis," of Vancouver.

This opened the way to identifying the patient who, on regaining consciousness, had no recollection at all of his name or background.

Vancouver police reported that Robert George Stanley Jervis of that city was on their missing persons list, and identification was established.

A visit Tuesday by a fellow-worker in the Vancouver TCA office failed to restore Jervis' memory, and it was not until yesterday afternoon, following further treatment by Dr. Robert Post, that his memory was restored.

Huge Parks Program Set for Thousands

Lakes Plan Bucked

Proposal that the whole of Greater Victoria should own and develop Beaver and Elk Lakes through the water board met firm opposition yesterday from Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Discussion at a meeting of Greater Victoria representatives was inconclusive, but Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said his municipality was "unilaterally opposed" to the water board being used for any other purpose than supplying water, and Reeve A. C. Wurtelle of Esquimalt said his council considered the proposal "not the proper way of doing things at all."

BUY PROPERTY

The suggestion, as put forward last year by City Manager C. C. Wyatt, was that the Greater Victoria water board buy Victoria city's Elk and Beaver Lakes property, both as a potential water source and as park land, and that Greater Victoria water-users pay for the purchase and part maintenance and development on their water bills.

He estimated Victoria's investment in the property amounted to roughly $860,000, and his figures indicated the plan would cost the average water-user about 13 cents a month.

PARKS MAINTAINED

At present Victoria and Saanich maintain the parks at the lakes.

Reeve Murdoch and Coun. Alan Cox of Oak Bay maintained that there was no need to acquire the potential water supply because water commissioner Ronald Upward had said the Sooke Lake water system would provide enough water for a population of more than 500,000.

Providing park services, Reeve Murdoch said, would be putting a strain on finances which should be used for the water supply.

ON OWN FEET

All the municipalities, he said, had parks which were used by the residents of the other municipalities, and each should stand on its own feet.

If the city and Saanich couldn't provide the needed park facilities at the lakes, they should ask the provincial government to provide them, he suggested.

Reeve George Chatterton agreed that parks were normally the responsibility of the individual municipalities, but argued that the Beaver-Elk property would in the future become one of the greatest assets of the whole area if it could be preserved.

RON STEELE

Seen In Passing

Ron Steele fixing a car spring. (A mechanic, he works for a city garage. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Steele at 85 Battleford Avenue.

Mr. Steele, senior, works for a large company. Ron's hobbies are stock car racing, swimming and bowling.) Al Lyle drawing attention to the Victoria Optimist Club bingo session at Central Junior High School tonight, where $1,000 in cash prizes is at stake starting at 8 p.m. with doors opening at 7 p.m. Harold Yardley visiting a city hotel. George Young over from Salt Spring Island with another truck load of eggs for city customers. Russ Dunnett telling the same old stories. Jean Maguire talking on the telephone. Ken Greenhalgh rushing out to a car. Bob Fuller towing his broken-down car home.

Mayoress Proposal Dropped

Directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce Wednesday turned thumbs down on a suggestion that Victoria should recognize the title mayoress, for the wife of the mayor.

Sam Lane, chairman of the tourist group, asked the directors to approve a group resolution that in recognition of the work done by Mrs. Scurrah, the honorary title of mayoress be recognized not only for Mrs. Scurrah but for the wives of all future mayors.

A letter from the town clerk of Manchester, England, was read by Mr. Lane stating it was the usual practice to refer to the wife of the mayor in English cities as mayoress, although this was a purely unofficial title and carried no responsibilities.

NO SECONDER

When there was no seconder for Mr. Lane's motion, chamber president, G. Conway Parrott, said it should be referred back to the tourist group.

Later A. C. Ashforth, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, who was a guest speaker at the meeting, said he was interested in Mr. Lane's proposal.

'Presentation' Set Tonight

The annual Mount Douglas High School presentation night will be held this evening in the school auditorium. Scholastic and sports prizes won during the year will be awarded to students. The ceremony begins at 8 p.m.

Point Drive Starts

A campaign has been started for funds to save a Ten Mile Point beauty spot for enjoyment of the public for generations to come.

The property is a privately-owned promontory beside Smugglers' Cove, where preparations are being made for construction of a home.

Reeve George Chatterton said Tuesday night he felt the price would be prohibitive—he believed it would be around $20,000 in view of the need to spend limited funds on parks which would serve more people.

But yesterday he said that if half the price could be raised by public subscription, he would "strongly recommend" to Saanich council that it put up the rest.

Fighters for preservation of the beauty spot, led by Mrs. Arthur Whittaker, 224 Edgemoor, immediately formed a committee and announced the opening of a "Smugglers' Cove subscription account" at the main branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Children To See Queen

Children registered with Victoria's summer parks program will be taken to Clover Point July 17, under the care of their supervisors, to see Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

At least 1,500 children are expected to take advantage of the scheme. The supervised trip to Clover Point is the major special event planned for the city's summer parks program.

SUMMER PROGRAMS

The four Greater Victoria municipalities plan summer recreation programs to help keep children off the streets, and to teach them arts and crafts.

The city program, June 29 to Aug. 1, will be spread over nine parks—Central, Beacon Hill, Oaklands, Ranfield, Topaz, Hollywood, Stadacona, Macdonald and Redfern.

FULL-DAY SCHEDULES

Full day programs, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., will be held at Central Park and Beacon Hill Park, and other parks will operate from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

The curriculum for the recreation program includes free tennis instruction, swimming instruction at the Crystal Garden, sports, handicrafts and a free library. Instruction is free but some activities require a small fee.

COMPETENT STAFF

Gordon Hartley, city school teacher, will head a staff of 20 competent supervisors.

The Saanich program, July 6 to Aug. 16, will be spread over 16 parks—Allenby, Braefoot, Broadmead, Hampton, Majestic, Marigold, Maynard, Meadow, Playfair, Qu'Appelle, Rainbow, Reynolds, Rosedale, Rudd, Tolmie and in the Royal Oak school grounds.

3,000 CHILDREN

Competent supervisors have been appointed to take care of the 3,000 children expected to take part. Chief supervisor will be Peter Clark, a teacher at Mount View High School.

Parks will be supervised from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and a full program of sports, games, arts and crafts, singing and dancing, costume parades and parties has been arranged.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Special events planned for Saanich children include trips to the beach to collect shells, visits to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery and the provincial museum, nature hikes and inter-park competition.

The best of the handicrafts will be collected and displayed at the end of the summer.

In Oak Bay two parks—Carnarvon and Windsor—will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Half-day programs, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. will be offered in Firemen's Park, Willows and Lafayette.

COVERS FAMILY

Registration fee of $2 covers a family, no matter how large. Some 600 children between five years and 12 are expected to take part.

The program, four weeks from July 6, includes sports, games, handicrafts, woodwork, ceramics and swimming lessons for non-swimmers seven years and older.

Swim classes are being arranged for Kinsmen-Gorge Park in Esquimalt. Full details of registration can be obtained from the four municipal halls.

Do Gardeners Have Ghostly Helpers?

Unseen hands appear to be about to move wheelbarrow in this picture caught yesterday by Colonist photographer at Empress Hotel gardens.

But gloves were just left on handles by workman Joe Spiros, 1303 Yates, when he turned to a job requiring use of bare hands.

Downtown Motels Filling Up

Tourist Trade Perks Up, More Coming with Queen

Tourist business has started to perk up in Victoria. Several downtown motels said they were within a unit or two of being filled and some reported that the long-awaited influx of royal tour reservations has begun.

A few are already booked solid for the week of July 12 to 18, when the Queen will be here.

Many motel managers agreed that the improvement in the tourist business has come within the past few days.

But so far, the tide has not reached out to many of the accommodation units situated some distance from the city.

Members of the industry said that city facilities are usually taken up first except where the out-of-town units are in a recreational area specializing in sport fishing or similar activities.

Larger crowds of tourists are not expected for a few days until the effect of closing schools in the United States is felt through increased family travel.

George I. Warren, commissioner for the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, said he was advised by Washington State Ferries that their traffic volume was down slightly from last year when due to a strike; they were not competing with the CPR's Victoria-Seattle service.

Combined facilities of the two are probably bringing slightly more traffic this year.

Liberal Candidate

Named Liberal candidate for Esquimalt riding last night was George Whittaker, who won out over Joseph Saville, Mr. Whittaker, an unsuccessful candidate in the last provincial election, is out to win in the next one. Mr. Saville, chairman of the association, stepped down from his position to stand as a nominee. He retrieved the chairman's gavel at the request of members after Mr. Whittaker won the nomination.

Irate Gardener Eyes Jaycees

An irate city gardener has an axe to grind with the Junior Chamber of Commerce for not informing her that its summer garden lighting contest was cancelled because of too few entries.

Mrs. June Norrington, 738 Selkirk, said: "For four nights running, we kept our garden lighted from nine to midnight. Our friends and neighbors came around to see it, but the Jaycees didn't judge it and they didn't telephone us to say the contest had been called off."

"I found out about it when I called to find out who won and was told there was no judging because there were only two entries. They let us run right through, without even letting us know," said Mrs. Norrington.

On top of it all, neighborhood youngsters playing cowboys and Indians romped through the garden while the family was away, breaking off a number of Canterbury bells, which have to be nursed from seed and take two years to bloom.

Mrs. Norrington gathered up all the damaged flowers and sent a carload full to St. Margaret's School, where they were used to decorate the gymnasium for today's prize-giving ceremony.

No Starting Date Set

Breakwater Finish Early Next Year

The rock mound breakwater for Oak Bay will be completed by Feb. 3, 1960, but no date has yet been set for the beginning of the work, a spokesman for the company awarded the contract said last night.

The breakwater contract was awarded to Wakeman & Trimble Contractors Ltd. of Victoria. The company bid $296,985 for the work.

Dropped Bottles Injure Shopper

A woman shopper, injured by flying glass from an exploding carton of pop bottles, was treated for minor leg injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital last night.

Esquimalt police, who took the woman to hospital, said Mrs. Doreen Negrich of 1029 Colville Road dropped the pop bottles while shopping at the PDY grocery, at the corner of Craigflower and Tillicum.

Gigantic Kamloops Decoration

150x50 Feet with Insignia

Floral Crown Will Greet Queen

A 150 by 50-foot floral crown and "E.R." insignia will confront Queen Elizabeth when she is officially welcomed to British Columbia in Kamloops on July 11.

The floral welcome covers the lawns of the government buildings at Kamloops and is now bursting into bloom. Even the crown jewels are depicted by flowers in the proper colors.

As well as the flower welcome the red ensign and union jack flags mounted on staffs and surrounding a gold-colored E.R. crest will be displayed on the lawns.

On the legislative buildings in Victoria an illuminated crown on the main building set off with red ensign and union jack flags will be the main decorative theme.

Similar decorations are planned on all provincial government buildings along the Queen's route, including Golden, Ashcroft, Revelstoke, Vernon, Kamloops, Chilliwack, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Vancouver and Victoria.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I usually agree with your advice but the other day you made me furious.

I refer to the fellow who always managed to turn up at his fiancée's house at meal-time. In addition to this he felt free to snack on anything in the ice-box. The girl's mother complained to the daughter and wound up in the dog-house.

YOU told the mother she was wrong to criticize the fellow. You said people who suffered early poverty sometimes have trouble being generous with food. You suggested "in the interests of family harmony to try to overcome the pattern established in early life."

Have you gone out of your mind, Ann Landers? Today, you simply can't feed an extra person regularly for nothing. Hasn't this jerk got a home? And what about plain good manners? He must be a pig to come for meals every night and snack whenever he feels like it.

I almost fell through the floor when I read your advice. It didn't sound like you. Are you on vacation? — DISAPPOINTED.

I Agree, I Goofed

Dear Disappointed: I'm responsible for every word of advice that appears in this column—52 weeks a year. When I go on vacation the work is done in advance.

Your letter was one of a great many protests. Many readers felt the I goofed. And, after reading the criticism, I'm inclined to agree with them.

Perhaps it's because I was taught early never to be "tight" with food. We always joked about Mama's table being made of rubber—the way it could be stretched.

Upon re-evaluation of the original letter and careful examination of multiple beeps from readers, I agree the fellow DOES sound like a bit of a moocher and his fiancée should tell him he's over-doing the do-it-yourself hospitality bit.—ANNIE

Your Life, First

Dear Teens: Her feelings are not as important as your lives. And this may be your choice. Tell her she's a fine friend but a menace on the street and refuse to ride with her until she learns how to handle an automobile.

Dear Ann: My husband died five years ago. I'm 50, have an interesting job and nice friends, but I'm lonesome. Please understand, I'm not looking for a husband. I just want company.

A fine widower has phoned several times "just to talk." He's 60, doesn't use alcohol or tobacco, and has a good steady job. Last month he invited me to a church supper but I refused because I didn't want to start gossip. This is a small community and everyone knows everyone else's business.

How can I enjoy his company without being talked about?—LENA.

Dear Lena: So—if they talked, what could they say, except "How nice that two lonely people got together."

Let him know you're sorry you couldn't attend that church supper and you hope he'll ask you out again. And stop feeling guilty. You're creating a problem where none exists.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What to Expect From Marriage," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Nora Lemus returned yesterday afternoon by plane to her home in San Salvador, via San Francisco, after living and studying for five years in Victoria at St. Ann's Academy from which she graduated this month. For the past week, Miss Lemus has been guest of classmate, Lea Boyd, at the Windsor Road home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weslep Boyd.

California Visitor

Miss Beatrice R. Miller, formerly of Vancouver, now of Beverly Hills, Calif., is visiting Victoria for several weeks to attend the July wedding of her son, Mr. James H. K. Miller, to Miss Dianne Abernethy in St. George the Martyr Church. While here, Mrs. Miller is a guest at the Denison Road home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Young.

Mark William Christened

Mark William were the names given the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mackereth, Sunday, when he was christened in Centennial Church by the Rev. D. B. Carr. Among those present were his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Mackereth, his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Seedhouse and Mrs. J. H. Anderson, his maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Allison and great-grandmother, Mrs. A. L. Allison. Godparents for Mark are Mr. and Mrs. B. Scott. The baby is their third generation to be christened in Centennial Church. After the ceremony a tea was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Allison, 624 Alpha Street.

Engagement Announced

Of interest to Victoria is the engagement announced by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Stewart of Vancouver of their daughter, Peggy Jo, to Wilfred Edward Hellyer, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hellyer of New Westminster. The wedding will take place in Edmonton at Robertson United Church, July 25, at 7 p.m., Rev. Clifford Elliott officiating.

Visitor from Los Angeles

Miss Robert Saunders, Los Angeles, is visiting her sister, Mrs. P. Pinkerton of Cook Street.

Visitors to Victoria

Mrs. Daisy Kintzel of Atwood, Indiana, and Mrs. Elsie Fraser of Abbotsford, B.C., are visiting in the city, guests of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Darlison, 2544 Roseberry Avenue.

350 Delegates Arriving Today

Holding their convention for the first time in Canada, more than 350 delegates of the Alpha Omicron Phi Continental began to arrive last night for their six-day convention at the Empress Hotel.

Meetings of the group start this afternoon and registration and the opening banquet and ritual. Theme of the evening is "Canada" with hostesses chapters from Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver.

Business meetings begin on Friday.

Among the chief speakers will be Dean M. Dorothy Mawdsley of the University of British Columbia, who retires June 30, after 32 years' service there. Author of several books, Dean Mawdsley will be making her last official appearance before retiring. Dr. Keith Armstrong, executive director of the Canadian Council for Crippled Children and Adults, and Judge Ralph P. Edgerton of Seattle, will also speak.

An impressive candlelighting ceremony will be staged Monday night in the hotel gardens.

Geneva, site of many international conferences, is also one of Switzerland's favorite resorts.

Pink Peonies Adorn Church

Standards of pink peonies graced St. Mary's Anglican Church for the June wedding of Sylvia Gaye Jenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jenner, Swan Street, and David Pemberton, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Pemberton, Wilkinson Road.

The Rev. H. J. Jones officiated.

The bride was radiant in a full fashioned Empire gown with a bodice of draped chiffon, high waistline accented with a wide cummerbund, bow and sashes falling away at the back and a full-length, bouffant skirt of lace over taffeta. Her elbow length illusion, appliqued was held by a sequined pearl tiara and she carried red roses and stephanotis.

Her attendants were gowned alike in lace over taffeta dresses with bouffant skirts and carried crescents of blended shades of pink carnations to match their headdresses.

Matron-of-honor was Mrs. Barry Jenner in pale blue with bridesmaid Mrs. Peter Walker and Miss Barry Jenner, bridesmaid, in shell pink. Flower girls Kathy Rodd and Debbie Jenner wore white nylon over taffeta and carried baskets of pink and white daisies.

Best man was Mr. Peter Walker and ushers were Mr. Ronald Pemberton and Mr. Larry Houston.

Wedding Party Flies from England

The oldest church on the Island, St. Stephen's, Saanichton, was the scene of the wedding for Penelope Warren and Mr. Alexander Howard (late of the Scots Guards). A large bridal ceremony party flew here from England yesterday to attend the ceremony and will return by air Friday. They are

Howard-Warren

Bride Wore Heirloom Tiara

A diamond tiara, long in the Howard family of England and brought out from Sussex by Lady Lorna Howard, was worn by Miss Penelope Warren for her marriage yesterday to Mr. Alexander Howard, late of the Scots Guards, in St. Stephen's Church, Saanichton.

The groom's parents, the Hon. Sir Arthur Jared Howard, and Lady Lorna, flew from "Wappingthorn," Steyning, Sussex, to be present for the wedding. Lady Lorna, daughter of the first Earl Baldwin, was accompanied by Lady Betty Baldwin, and the sister of the groom, Mrs. Peter Lumsden, all of England.

YELLOW SATIN
Miss Mary Lee Mather, of Banff, Alberta, was the bride's attendant and chose a full-length sheath of yellow satin and wore a flower bandeau in her hair.

UNCLE PROPOSED TOAST
Mr. F. E. M. Robinson, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

St. Joseph's Staff Fete Bride-Elect

Saturday bride-elect Mrs. Sheila D. Rose who will be married to Mr. Eric N. Scott of Sangudo, Alberta, has been guest at several parties in her honor.

The office staff at St. Joseph's Hospital where she has been employed surprised her with a party at the home of Mrs. W. J. Salute, Fairfield Road. Among the guests were Mrs. G. Kemble, the Misses V. Hansen, Kay McDonald, Ann McDonald, Gwenneth Powell, and Charlotte Hynes. The bride-elect received a gift of topper.

Former co-workers of Mrs. Rose on Ward 1A of St. Joseph's presented her with a gift of steel kitchenware.

Vaccine Shots Due Today

Second injections of polio vaccine for adults who received first injections May 28 will be available at the Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit between 5 and 6 p.m. today.

The health unit yesterday urged these adults, and any who received a first injection May 21 without receiving a second, to take advantage of the protection offered.

Third doses will be given in January.

The Bride and Groom

Mr. and Mrs. Howard leave St. Stephen's Church. Later they left by air for a honeymoon trip to Portugal. The dark-haired bride wore a diamond tiara, long in the Howard family, which was brought out for the occasion from England by Lady Lorna. Mr. Howard's father is a son of the third Baron Strathcona. The bride's parents are Mr. G. R. L. Warren and the Hon. Mrs. Warren, Saanichton.

Covered Wagon Circle Background for Wedding

KEMMERER, Wyo. (AP)—In a setting reminiscent of 100 years ago, Judith Day Roudabaugh, 18, and Thomas A. Hollaman, 21, both of Drain, Ore., were married Tuesday in a circle of covered wagons.

The background was formed by prairie schooners retracing the old Oregon trail to mark Oregon's centennial.

Queen's Stylish Ensemble

Among the ensembles brought by Queen Elizabeth for daytime wear was this suit in grey, yellow and white flecked wool mixture. Note the simple styling and interest at the front with covered buttons. She chose a top-coat of the same fabric. The hat, a pale beige cloche by Claude St. Cyr has an up-turned stitched brim. (BOAC Photo)

Quiet Time When She Comes to B.C.

Retreat Awaits Queen

A quiet retreat awaits Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip when they visit British Columbia in July.

Like everyone else, it will be holiday time for the royal couple.

For their royal retreat, they've chosen Penask Lake Lodge, 270 miles north of Vancouver and 40 miles from Merritt.

This exclusive trout fishing area (which will undoubtedly be enjoyed by the Prince) and three-storey lodge seems to be the perfect spot for the July 12 and 13 vacation from official duties.

The lodge has accommodation for 24 persons and is fully modern.

Only the personal staff will be at the lodge with the balance of the royal attendants staying

FAST RELIEF FOR

TIRED FEET

MINARD'S
LINIMENT

at Delcliff Lodge outside Vernon, to also enjoy a two-day rest.

Members of the press covering the tour will be accommodated at Vernon.

The lodge itself lends much to create a holiday mood.

It's of log construction with cedar-shingled roof and gabled windows.

From a large entrance hall, the dining room branches off to one side and the great lounge on the other.

The lounge has a stone fireplace and large windows overlooking the bay and boat mooring.

The Queen will be able to enjoy the sun from her second-floor suite with its glass-enclosed porch with a view of the lake. There are several single rooms in addition to the main suite.

The lodge has its own electric power plant and water supply.

Fine Dessert For a Shower

Happy is the bride preparing for a summer wedding. Why not add to her pleasure? Arrange a friendly get-together. Invite your shower guests to enjoy a simple buffet. The dessert features Chocolate Cream Torte. Its smooth, creamy flavor and consistency is the ideal combination for the crisp meringue crust.

To top the meal, hand round cups of stimulating tea, so refreshing when served clear with lemon slices.

CHOCOLATE CREAM TORTE

Meringue Crust
6 egg whites
½ tsp. cream of tartar
2 cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract.
Add cream of tartar to egg whites. Beat until foamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until stiff. Add vanilla extract and mix thoroughly. On brown paper outline two 10" circles. Spread meringue on paper and bake at 275 degrees F. for one hour. Cool and remove paper carefully.

Filling
1 pkg. chocolate pudding
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
2 bananas, sliced.
Make up chocolate pudding according to package directions but using 2½ cups milk.

Cool. Fold in bananas and whipping cream (reserving some for garnish). Spread half of the filling on one layer of meringue. Place second layer of meringue on top. Spread remaining filling over meringue and decorate with whipped cream. Chill at least one hour. Serves 12.

Thompson Seedless Grapes Will Be Sold Here Soon

Thompson seedless grapes, which seem synonymous with good fun on picnics and backyard parties, will move into Victoria next week a little later than usual.

The delay has been caused by excessively hot temperatures in the Coachella Valley in California where they are grown. I heard it hit 124 degrees down there yesterday.

These grapes are worth waiting for—they're juicier, bigger and come in great volume. Starting prices will be about 35 cents a pound.

There are some local storage strawberries to be had around town and a good supply from Salt Spring Island. If you buy fresh berries at all, make sure they're eaten up in shortcake or desserts right away—they won't keep.

Peaches galore fill the fruit stores as the beautiful Red

Havens are getting into full swing now. Make sure they're ripe sufficiently before they are eaten. Price is about five cents each.

One of the most popular of summertime fruits in the last few years is the new nectarine, sold in large quantities locally for as low as 27 cents a pound.

Another new arrival is the Swedish turnip, for some reason a staple even in the hot weather. One thing about the new crop, they're mild and sweet and a change from potatoes.

Fraser Valley cauliflower is in now for a brief spell at about 29 cents a head.

Norfolk House Prize Winners

Prize winners at Norfolk House School closing ceremonies held yesterday are listed from Grade I to Grade XII in that order:

Ann Poulton, Caroline Penn, J. Holmes and Barbara Hubbard, Penny Shaw, Susan Willis, Wendy Watkins, Janet Hudson, Margaret Bowles, Andrea Walker, Lee Mitchell and Olivia Greenwood, Gillian Gerry, Alice Powell and Wendy Gerry.

The Hammond Cup for Merit was won by Miss Barbara Emery, head girl of the school. The French prize was given to Sue Mearns and the German prize to Wendy Gerry.

Ann MacDougall won the French scrapbook prize. Junior drill cup winner was Sue Kelly; senior drill cup was Sue Arnold; senior champion for sports was Lisa Hubbard and the house cup was won by Caister House. Most progress during the year in kindergarten, was made by Stephanie Doull, and Frances Stanley took the prize for general proficiency in kindergarten.

ITCHING

of ECZEMA, psoriasis, hives, allergy and detergent rashes, quickly relieved with healing Davis PRURITIN CREAM. Fresh-color, greaseless. Orange Prescription, 361 Yates Street, Victoria.

Give an Electrical Gift in June

You will find an electrical gift the ideal remembrance for every June occasion whether graduation, anniversary, wedding, or other special event. An electrical gift is a constant reminder of your thoughtfulness.

Below are a few suggestions.

A portable TV set brings entertainment anywhere in the house! A thoughtful gift for people who like to watch TV in the kitchen or workshop.

A gift of better lighting is appreciated by everyone! New lamps come in a variety of styles; a perfect model for every decorating scheme, every lighting need!

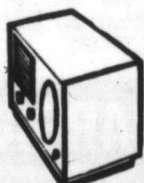

Come October and someone will thank you for the extreme comfort of an automatic electric blanket, available with "His" and "Hers" heat control.

New electric shavers give fast, clean shaves without irritation! Perfect gift for all the men in the house. Choose from many models.

A clock radio automatically switches on when it's time to get up. Some even turn on a lamp or start the coffee percolating in the morning!

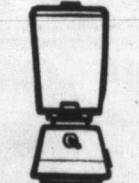

A deep fryer cooks chicken, shrimp or fish and chips to crisp, golden perfection. Wonderful gift for home-makers or amateur chefs!

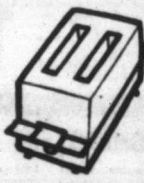

Automatic fry pans take the guesswork out of frying—and they cook many special dishes never before possible in a frying pan!

With an electric blender it's possible to create dozens of exciting new dishes. Kids love the delicious, healthful fruit and vegetable juice combinations made with it.

Automatic toaster makes toast to every taste! When toast is done to order, the inside rack pops it up ready to butter.

An electric mixer gives her the right mixing speed for every dish, assures higher, lighter cakes. This beautiful gift comes in colors, too.

Liberals 'Paid Price' For Lack of Tenders

Extra $600,000 for Ferry Cited by Commons Group

OTTAWA (CP)—A Parliamentary committee called Wednesday for a tightening up of federal contract-letting procedure after concluding that the former Liberal administration may have paid about $600,000 more than was necessary in the construction

Agencies In Chest Total 22

The 22 organizations taking part in the 1959 Community Chest drive were announced yesterday. They are:

Victorian Order of Nurses, Family and Children's Service, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, John Howard Society, YMCA, YWCA, Sunshine Camp, Boy Scouts, Community Welfare Council, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Christmas Bureau, St. Joseph's Hospital Women's Auxiliary, St. John Ambulance Society, SPCA, Muscular Dystrophy, Silver Threads Service, Columbia Coast Mission, Citizens' Recreation Rooms, the Canadian Welfare Council, B.C. Borstal, and Canadian Mental Health Association.

The Greater Victoria Community Chest last year was composed of 20 member organizations. The target for 1959 — $325,000 — is only $45,000 more than the amount raised last year.

Pensioners Gave Most for Drive

Individual old-age pensioners in a senior citizens' housing development gave larger donations to a senior citizens' porchlight drive this week than higher-income neighbors in the same district.

Glen Hamilton, secretary of the drive made on behalf of Victoria Senior Citizens' Housing Society, said some of the pensioner-donors gave donations twice as large as people better able to render financial assistance.

The Tuesday porchlight drive fell $35,000 short of its $50,000 objective and a concerted effort to raise the total will be made tonight when "flying squads" of four to five canvassers to a car will try to reach areas missed in the initial effort.

Anyone who wishes to assist in canvassing the areas neglected on Tuesday may do so by reporting at the Williams Building, 749 Broughton, at 6:30 p.m. tonight.

Any willing donors who were missed may make their contributions at the main branch of the Royal Bank of Canada on Government Street or to treasurer E. D. Price at 2476 Central Avenue. About $15,000 of the $50,000 objective would cover furnishing of the society's 26-unit apartment block for old people at Styles and Craigflower, while the missing $35,000 would have gone towards construction of a second housing unit.

Keep Working or Be Laid Off

NEW YORK (UPI)—The steel industry handed the United Steelworkers of America a 24-hour ultimatum yesterday to extend the current wage contracts or be laid off before the pacts run out at midnight June 30. A union source said flatly the ultimatum would be rejected.

The source said the union could not accept a contract extension without any "good faith" offer by the industry. Company negotiators said they had no intention of making any offer beyond a previous proposal to grant a non-inflationary wage increase only if current operating costs could be cut. A wildcat steel strike ended in Cleveland but another developed the same day in Canton, Ohio, when about 100 men walked off the job in protest to the dismissal of an employee.

Keep Them Blooming

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The summer-flowering bedding-annuals we set out earlier this season have all taken hold nicely and are growing away as sweetly as you please.

We had a few nice rains just after planting, which got them away to a good start, and the snapdragons and salvia and bedding petunias are coming into bloom now with every promise of a colorful display. The next problem is how to keep them blooming freely right through until the autumn.

The condition of the soil surface is very important here, for in a spell of hot, dry weather, the ground tends to bake and form a hard crust on the surface which excludes air from the roots. With both air and moisture deficient, the lower leaves turn brown and die and the plants cease to grow and bloom.

The trick here is to get in there with the Dutch hoe or, in the case of small beds, down on your hunkers with the hand fork, stirring and loosening the soil between the plants so the roots can get at their all-important supply of air. This needs doing after every rain, just as the soil surface is beginning to dry out.

One way of dodging this soil-stirring chore is to insulate the soil surface from the sun with a mulch of some kind. If your pocketbook will run to a bale of peat moss, a one-inch layer of this material spread over the surface between the plants will prevent this baking and crusting. The dark brown of the peat looks very attractive on the beds, too.

Vermiculite (expanded mica particles) and Perlite (pellets of white volcanic rock) are also first-class materials for mulching the flower beds. Whether you use these or peat moss, dig the stuff in during the fall cleanup and before the spring bulbs or wallflowers are set out, as all three materials do a wonderful job of improving the soil texture.

Lawn mowings also make an excellent insulating mulch but give a rather untidy appearance to the flower beds. Use your mowings in this way, by all means, but out back around the vegetables, where appearance is not so important. Never apply more than a one-inch layer of mowings at any one time and allow these to dry out before adding to the thickness of the mulch. Otherwise they may mat down and form a layer through which water cannot penetrate.

There is another precaution to be observed when using lawn mowings as a mulch around plants—never use the mowings from a lawn recently treated with a selective weedkiller.

The fumes from 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T weedkillers hang around for quite a long time on grass so treated. Last year, I ran across several cases of tomato plants with their foliage curled and distorted from fumes arising from the grass mulch over their roots.

Better take a sniff at your lawn mowings before spreading them, for the smell of the weedkiller is quite characteristic. If your nose can't detect any fumes, it isn't likely the mulch could cause any damage to your plants.

Never allow any of your bedding plants to go to seed, as this is just about the surest way to shorten your floral display. Better assign some member of the family to make the rounds once a week, snipping off the faded flowers before they can form seed pods.

You've Got to Be Loathesome

I was in the shower the other day singing "Twist 45 and 50," the theme song of the Forgotten People (which is anyone over the age of 14), and feeling sorry for myself. The world, I reflected, is not run for us ancients. We are just here to pay the bills.

It's not that I'm opposed to youth. Youth was great when I was a youth, but, by George, they broke the mold right after me. At least the mold I came out of could not have been the same one that produced Fabian, who was on the Ed Sullivan Show the other night, caterwauling or whatever he was doing. Fabian, I have been informed, is one of the newer enthusiasms of our young set and one of the more presentable young singers.

Singers?

Presentable? He was wearing a slipcover over an old tee shirt. The hair looked like something Medusa had sent back to the store as unworthy of her.

As for his voice... well, of course, singers gave up singing years ago in favor of shouting—but this one can't even shout. The song he was mouthing, "Like a Tiger," was enormously improved by total unintelligibility.

Just in case you could make out a word here and there—God forbid—they turned up the electric guitar (or whatever it is that makes that awful racket in the background) and just to be doubly sure that that horrible song and the dreadful voice of young Fabian are totally drowned out—the young audience is encouraged to shriek, whistle, stomp, and, if necessary, set fire to Ed Sullivan.

And that, fellows, is how a sweet child becomes a teenage idol in our wonderfully advanced civilization in this here 20th century. Oh, there's one other requisite to becoming a popular singer these days: you got to be utterly loathsome to adults—and that ingredient this little fellow has in generous quantities. God bless his little growing bank account.

Why do we put up with it? Record executives, who no longer pretend this junk is anything but horrible, plead that they have to cater to young tastes. But why? As

The bidding:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass 3♠ Pass 4♠ Pass 5♠ Pass 6♠ All Pass

Opening lead: ♠ K

South, with two five-card majors, had a sound spade bid, with three points for distribution to augment his 11 in high cards. North's later four-club bid crowded the auction, but a three-club bid might have been passed out. Because the game was match-point duplicate, after South's raise to five clubs, North tried to return to a major suit contract, while opening the door for a possible slam. South, with his minimum hand, was only too glad to pass.

West cashed two spades, and East played high-low. A third spade was ruffed by North's heart queen. East sluffing a low club, and this gave away the show. The heart nine was led and South played the ace, felling West's king. Declarer reasoned correctly that, since East had apparently been unable to overruff the board, the only chance lay in catching West with a singleton king. West might have been smarter to shift to a diamond after cashing the two high spades. He should have realized that if East proved unable to overruff dummy, it would endanger his singleton trump king.

The laconic postmortem is worth tuning in:

West (self-accurringly): "I should have shifted to a diamond."

South (scornfully): "After East's high-low in spades? I'd have bumped your king anyway."

East (thoughtfully): "Guess I shouldn't have echoed in spades since I couldn't beat dummy's lowest trump."

East (thoughtfully): "Guess I shouldn't have echoed in spades since I couldn't beat dummy's lowest trump."

East's afterthought was correct. But it's always easier to spot this kind of play later, and a huddle by East would have been just as much of a giveaway.

Bridge Results

Winners in the weekly tournament of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club were: 1st, Andy Jorgensen and Samuel Treacy; 2nd, Elizabeth Warren and Leslie Stewart; 3rd, Mrs. A. A. Dapin, 4th, Ethel Clewett and George Morgan, and Douglas Harkin and William Simpson-Bell; 5th, Edith Reid and Midge Macnam; 6th, section—1, Douglas Tuck and Frank Smith, 2, Mr. and Mrs. George Neale; 3, Tony Marsh and Harry Brown; 4, Gwen Brown and Roberta Nelson; 5, Pat Hudson and Marjorie Powell; 6, Kay Davies and Josephine Weddington.

Moss Hart has pointed out, it's ridiculous to be this subservient to the young. We're bigger than they are—and it's our house. And our TV set. And our record companies. And, dammit, we still got the vote, haven't we? If necessary, Fabian could be proclaimed unconstitutional and your small fry and mine couldn't do a thing to stop it.

The other day I was watching Jimmie Rodgers, another incomprehensible enthusiasm of the very young, singing "I'm Too Young To Marry" and I found myself yelling back at him: "You're too young to have your own show, too." That is an unmistakable sign of approaching madness. To argue with the set is weak-headed, but to argue with a teenager on television—obviously I'm coming unhinged.

Taverns Boost Stars' Morale

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—A psychiatrist explains the reason stars like Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Peter Lawford become part owners of restaurants and hotels. "It gives them a prestige satisfaction of being able to entertain their pals in their own taverns."

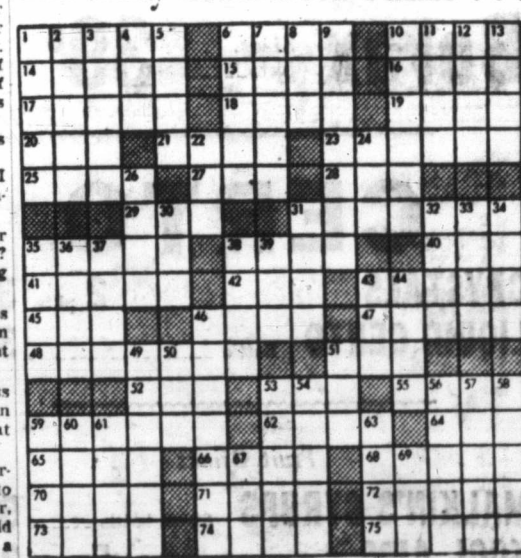

How to make movie money—Raoul Walsh shot "The Sheriff of Fractured Jaw" in Spain and England with Jayne Mansfield and Kenneth More in seven weeks for $700,000. To date, it has taken in $2,300,000.

Italian star Isa Miranda has a strange hobby. She cuts the heads off dolls and sticks them on branches of trees in her garden. Why? When she was a little girl her mother told her that babies came from trees.

Ronald MacDougall, who wrote and directed Harry Belafonte's film "The World, the Flesh and the Devil," was asked to direct wife Nanette Fabray in a television show. "I'd be delighted," he replied, "but teaching a wife to drive or directing her is something no husband should ever try."

When young Zimbalist flew east recently for personal appearances with his "Kookie" sidekick, Edd Byrnes, they had to fly separately because of the Warner Brothers ruling that two leads in any TV series cannot fly together in the same plane.

No Chance of Slip-Up—Color Ceremony Site Smoothed

Sticks and stones may break bones, so men of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry are taking no chances of having men slip or trip during the color ceremony in Beacon Hill Park July 17, when Queen Elizabeth will present the regiment with a new color. Work parties are spending several days in the park, clearing the whole area and marking out the ground.—(Colonist photo.)

This Driver Happy About Theft, Car Returned in Better Shape

LONDON (AP)—The thief who stole Jim Scott's run-down car did him a good turn.

When the car disappeared from outside salesman Scott's home a week ago, it was black. There was a hole in one side of the hood. The fenders were buckled. The engine was missing on one cylinder.

Police telephoned Scott to say they had found his car. He gaped when he saw it.

It had been sprayed maroon. The fenders were new. The hood had been repaired. And it went like a bird.

Police explained how it happened:

A Chamber of Commerce committee to consider preservation of historic buildings in the Victoria area has been given the go-ahead by directors of the chamber.

The project is being undertaken by the tourist trade group.

The thief abandoned Scott's car five miles away—directly behind another of the same make.

The owner of the second car had arranged with a garage to have his vehicle picked up for repairs.

A mechanic arrived and drove off in Scott's car by mistake. The error was spotted only after a $224 rejuvenation had been carried out. Scott won't be asked to pay, said a garage spokesman.

And the car that was left standing in the road? It was stolen.

Plucky Blind Boy Unaware Of New Threat from Cancer

MIAMI—Little Mike Sibole, who gave up his eyes to cancer in 1956 with a courage that touched the hearts of people around the world, is preparing happily for an outdoor vacation trip unaware that a new danger threatens his life.

Doctors say cancer may have moved into his lungs and, if so, surgery would offer little hope.

Parents of the plucky seven-year-old, Rev. and Mrs. James Sibole, have kept the new danger a secret from Mike. The boy can swim, read Braille, roller-skate and bowl, and has just completed Grade 1.

NEW YORK—Heiress Gloria Vanderbilt, whose mother was ruled unfit to rear her 25 years ago, won her two sons in a child custody battle with conductor Leopold Stokowski, her ex-husband. But Judge Edgar Nathan scolded the couple for bringing their troubles to court.

VATICAN CITY—Pope John is taking English lessons and hopes to speak the language fluently within a year—probably with a soft Irish accent. His tutor is Magr. Thomas Ryan of the Migratory.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—Actress Elaine Stewart, 26, was badly bitten on the jaw by a dog while she was watching television in a friend's home.

SOLFERINO, Italy—President De Gaulle completed a triumphal centenary tour of north Italian battlefields, then met Italian leaders to raise again his idea for a Mediterranean pact including France, Italy, Spain and Morocco.

LONDON—"Every morning since I was three years old I have been used to a drink of vodka and I can't live without it," Ferenc Hopka told the judge. He was fined $42 for operating a vodka stall.

Names In the News

TRIVANDRUM, India—Prime Minister Nehru told his Congress party to prepare for a long struggle in their drive to oust the Communist government of Kerala state.

WANDLITZ, East Germany—Atom spy Klaus Fuchs said nine years in a British jail had not changed his views about Communism. "I am still a Marxist," he said.

OTTAWA—Rosaire Seguin, 23, was killed when he fell four floors down an elevator shaft in a furniture store while trying to rescue a fellow employee from a stalled elevator.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti—Unidentified gunmen failed in efforts to assassinate Lt.-Col. Luis Trujillo Reynoso, Dominican military attaché here.

SPOLETO, Italy—Ed Sullivan, in Italy to film a TV show, visited ailing trumpeter Louis Armstrong and reported: "Satchmo feels great, just great."

CAPE CANAVERAL—Jimmy Hoffa, Teamsters' union boss, toured the U.S. air force missile test centre prior to an attempt to organize 2,000 missile workers who have no union affiliation.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—U.S. border patrol agents seized a brother-in-law of former Cuban president Fulgencio Batista as he stepped off a private plane. Two Americans were charged with smuggling Roberto Fernandez Miranda, 37, into the U.S.

Movie Daisy

Hollywood's choice for the role of Daisy Mae in the movie "Li'l Abner" is Leslie Parrish, who comes from Pennsylvania, not Dogpatch. She defeated 50 opponents for the part in the film version of the Boardway musical.

Hikers Set Sights On 'Marine Garden'

Members of the Victoria Outdoor Club will hike Sunday to the famous "Marine Botanical Garden" on the west coast of the Island near Port Renfrew.

The "garden," so named because of the variety of fascinating marine life visible on the tidal flats at low tide, is also known by biologists as the most prolific area for sea weeds on the entire west coast of North America.

The University of Minnesota once operated a biological station on the site to study the wide range of marine animals found in rock depressions at low tide.

The Outdoor Club, led by Hugh Salmund, will leave the Veteran Stage Depot at 8.15 a.m.

Russian for Teachers University Course

MONTREAL (CP)—A special training school for teachers of Russian is to be inaugurated this summer by the school of Slavic studies at the University of Montreal. It is to provide teaching personnel for a growing number of schools wishing to include Russian in the curriculum.

Ohio Prefers Canadian Teachers

TORONTO (CP)—An Ohio education official here trying to hire 200 teachers says he prefers Canadian teachers to those of the southern United States because "Canadian teachers trained in Canadian institutions are of excellent quality and easily maintain our high standards for us." Cleveland was reluctant to look to the southern states because of the low standards, said Darian H. Smith. "We have often found that southern students with A's across the board can't add two and two."

White Man Charged With Rape of Negro

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Ralph Betts, 36, a white man paroled last year after serving a prison term for attempted rape, has been charged with raping an 11-year-old Negro girl and will go on trial for his life.

Red Dresden Rebuilds Royal Past

Art Rises from Rubble In East Zone Showplace

This is the last article in a series of dispatches on East Germany by the only Canadian newspaperman to enter the Communist satellite.

By GORDON DONALDSON

DRESDEN—The bulbous crown of the old Saxon princes and the royal Polish eagle perch on the baroque gates of the Zwinger, Dresden's dearest architectural gem.

It shook me to learn that they're both brand new, lovingly carved by state sculptors of the new Communist satellite of East Germany.

The Zwinger—pleasure palace of 18th century Prince August—is being restored down to the last stone faun and cherub. And there isn't a single red banner or German Communist hammer-and-compass badge on the lovely old building.

For Dresden, as Oberbürgermeister Prof. Hans Güte told me, is rebuilding its past as well as its future. Now the cultural capital of the DDR (German Democratic Republic) it can't forget it was once the royal city of the Saxons.

Tore Out Heart

The past ended in 50 terrible minutes on the night of Feb. 13, 1945, when two waves of American and British bombers tore out the city's heart. Eighty per cent of the buildings were hit and 40 per cent of all living accommodation was totally destroyed.

In that one raid Dresden suffered more than any German city of comparable size. The 1945 population was 650,000. It is now less than 500,000. Thick grassy meadows cover much of the city centre. There is nothing to show that buildings once clustered there.

Only the black-toothed ruins of churches remain with their wingless angels and headless saints. These will be restored in the original style.

On the fringes of the grassy graveyard the new Dresden is rising—the familiar Soviet-style apartment blocks and shopping areas.

For years, the city's main resource was rubble. There were mountains of it. The new buildings are built from nine-foot square concrete sections manufactured on the spot from cement and crunched-down rubble.

Now, says Prof. Güte, Dresden is running out of rubble. But apartment house building goes on at the rate of one five-story 15-apartment block each 34 days. Work has been broken down into six stages, each performed by a "brigade" of six men.

The professor, a mild man who looks like a Communist Premier Frost, neatly represents three aspects of the new Dresden. He is an art historian who was forced into the building business because of his politics.

Art Lecturer

In between being thrown out of universities and arrests by the Gestapo he worked as a carpenter and house painter. He became a professor in Berlin after the war and still lectures on art.

His joy and Dresden's pride is the fabulous Dresden art collection, now housed in the rebuilt Zwinger.

The paintings—including Raphael's Sistine Madonna—escaped the bombs. But as the Allies advanced into Germany they were moved from hiding place to hiding place and many rotted in damp limestone caves and abandoned mines.

The invading Russians took the whole collection, packed it up and sent it back to Moscow. There, experts restored the damaged paintings. And three years ago, in one of their grandest gestures to their new satellite, they handed the art treasures back.

Close Ties

The Lord Mayor of Coventry saw it when he came here last Feb. 13, Dresden, despite its political differences, maintains close ties with Coventry. Dresden realizes, or at least Prof. Güte and the city leaders realize, that it was because of the near-obliteration of cities like Coventry that Dresden received its own fearful hammering.

So each year a Dresden delegation visits Coventry on Nov. 14, anniversary of the Coventry raid. And Coventry officials come over here Feb. 13.

Dresden artists are now working on a big mural to be presented to Coventry for its new city hall.

Gestures like this help confirm my impression that Dresden, as an historic city (founded 1206) with traditions and worries of its own, tends to stand apart from the main stream of propaganda, politics and life in East Germany.

Certainly it follows the rules. But its artists, antiquarians, perhaps even its technicians (who produce cameras and twin-motored airliners) seem to look beyond East Berlin and the demands of the present five-year plan.

Driving back to Berlin—in a slim black EMW sedan built in East Germany—I tried to collect my impressions of the new East Germany.

1. It is years behind West Germany in standard of living, production and reconstruction.

2. Its people are not starving. There is plenty of the basic foodstuffs, reasonably priced.

3. Clothes are expensive, but the quality is reasonably good.

No Terror

4. Although the government keeps up a continuous spy scare and the villages and towns swarm with police, I saw no evidence that the average East German sees anything unusual in this or lives in terror of his life.

5. The Russians hover like Big Brother in the background.

6. East Germany is struggling hard to create new industries. It is short of brains, brawn and raw materials but it is making progress.

One final thought before I recross the East Berlin frontier and take that 10-cent subway ride into the glittering West.

The Geneva Conference has shown that divided Germany won't be put back together again for years, if ever.

East Germany, like it or not, will remain a Communist state. And its people are still Germans—capable of tremendous achievements and fantastic folly.

Watch them! We may ignore them at our peril.

Tot Takes Wheel For $1,000 Drive

Doing "what daddy does" almost brought serious injury to a tiny Saanich child Tuesday at 5.25 p.m., and caused damages estimated at $1,000.

Alan Smith, 2½, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, 3904 Wilkinson, climbed into the family car while it was parked in the home driveway.

As he'd seen his father do, Alan released the hand brake, and the car rolled down the driveway, across the street, over a bank and overturned in the garden of Florence A. Smith, 3911 Wilkinson, who was standing where the car rolled seconds earlier.

The child was thrown out as the car moved, but suffered only a skinned arm and bruised head.

Trees Facing Slow Death

Frost on Nov. 10, 1955, resulted in damage that within a few years will mean death to thousands upon thousands of B.C. Douglas fir trees, federal forest pathology officer Dr. R. E. Foster said yesterday. He said the unusually early frost killed small patches of bark, which sluffed off the next year, leaving the trees exposed to disease. About one-third of the damaged trees were infected with red heart fungus, which will likely spread and kill the trees in five to 10 years, Dr. Foster said.

Surveys show that in the forest plantations, frost damage ranged between 10 and 25 per cent. Damage was mostly found in the 10 to 20-year-old trees. The red heart rot spreads up and down the trunk, eventually reaching to the circumference and the sapwood, thereby killing the tree, Dr. Foster said. The same danger may arise from last summer's extreme heat, which has already caused severe damage through forest fires. Dr. Foster said his department has run across sun-scald damage for the first time in British Columbia. He believes it is a result of last summer's excessive heat scorching the trees.

He suspects it will eventually have the same effect as the early frost had on the trees and result in death to a great many trees.

Prison Revolt Smashed

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—A five-pronged, co-ordinated attack by 125 prison guards broke open a barricaded wing at the U.S. Medical Centre Tuesday and crushed a 15-hour revolt by 106 mentally unbalanced prisoners.

Five guards who had been held hostage and threatened with death were rescued. A number of the rioting prisoners were injured. The attacking force, composed of 100 guards employed at the centre and 25 from the

Thief Forgot His Feet

'You Might Be Decent Citizen' Magistrate Tells Teenage Thief

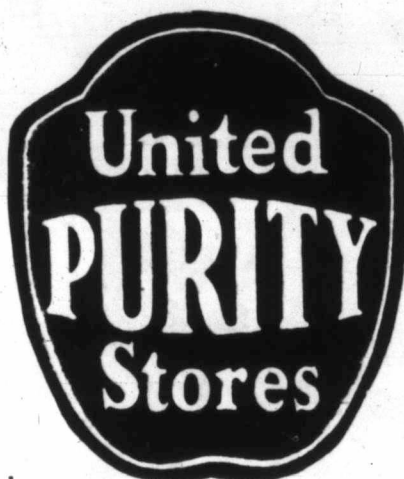

Reginald Wishinski of Vancouver, "only 19 but already in quite a bit of trouble with authority" in the words of Magistrate William Ostler, was sent to young offenders' unit at Oakalla when he appeared in city police court yesterday. Wishinski and a juvenile were arrested following theft of goods and $6.50 cash at Shearing's Food Market, 810 Caatherine. As Wishinski was sentenced to six months definite and six months indefinite, the magistrate said: "You are not only making a mess of your own life, but of those with whom you come in contact. With a period of guidance, perhaps you might yet make a decent citizen. Your parents have done all they can for you." Here Wishinski interjected: "I agree with that, your honor." A case of misunderstanding of the law won suspended sentence for Harold A. Williams, 444 Constance, when he was found guilty of driving without a current B.C. driver's licence. Williams, who came here in January on an eight-month navy course, understood that in such cases a B.C. driver's licence was not necessary if the driver had B.C. plates on his car. This proved correct—but for six months or less. The magistrate suspended sentence anyway. Pleading guilty to a charge of failing to pay wages due, Robert Barnett, 810 Linden, was fined a minimum $25 in city court yesterday, and ordered to pay wages of $28.75 owing to Gustav Nicholson, 1443 Edgeware.

Juror Heard It All Despite Snooze

BURY ST. EDMONDS, England (UPI) — Eleven jurors filed out of the box at West Suffolk quarter sessions court. The twelfth was asleep.

After Judge Gerald Howard ordered the bailiff to waken him, the juror assured the court he had heard all the evidence and hastened to join his colleagues.

The judge said he didn't know whether the juror was "overcome by the heat, or by what I had to say."

Up-Island Clothing Theft Possible Link to Escape

Theft of some articles of men's clothing at Nanossee Bay was the only development yesterday with any possible connection to Sunday's escape by four inmates of the William Head open prison.

The clothing, stolen Sunday night but not reported until yesterday, included two work shirts, one grey and one blue, a pair of blue jeans, a pair of black running shoes with white soles, a white tee-shirt and two pairs of grey and blue socks.

At the same time, police of Mission City on the Mainland intensified their search for the four following theft of a car, a large quantity of gasoline, $230 from a soft drink machine and two jackets from a garage in that city.

The four escaped between a final check of inmates Sunday at 12.30 a.m. and first morning check at 6.45 a.m. Missing at the same time was a department of health truck found later on the outskirts of Chemainus.

A 22-foot water taxi stolen Sunday from Chemainus, object of a sea and air search throughout the Gulf Islands, was found tied up to a dock at Nanaimo.

Fulton's Belief

Breaks Won't Hurt William Head Idea

OTTAWA (UPI)—Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton said yesterday he did not believe the idea of minimum security penal institutions has been prejudiced by recent escapes from the William Head, B.C., penitentiary.

Fulton told the House of Commons the federal government must have under constant revision the "new and rather experimental type" minimum security institutions like William Head.

'No Queen, No Prince—Both So Open and Lovely'

MONTREAL (CP)—There was no Queen and no prince there—they are both so open and lovely.

Mayor Sarto Fournier's words appeared to sum up the feelings of the 47 guests who dined with Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip Wednesday night on the royal yacht Britannia as it lay alongside a pier in Montreal harbor.

Mayor Fournier, who sat at the Queen's right throughout the six-course dinner, was obviously enchanted by her.

"Her French?" he said in answer to a question. "It is better than fluent, it is elegant. We talked in both French and English, I switched back and forth without knowing it."

Like the rest of the guests

who included Montreal civic dignitaries, high church officials, federal politicians and sports figures Jean Beliveau and Sam Etcheberry, Mayor Fournier said the royal couple were delightfully easy to talk to.

Beliveau, all-star centre with the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League and Etcheberry, perennial all-star quarterback with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, were more reserved about their opinions, but much impressed.

Beliveau and his wife Elise, who arrived about 15 minutes before the rest of the guests and spent the time before going aboard the yacht at 7:30 p.m. EDT chatting rather nervously with reporters, said the Queen recalled seeing Canadians play her eight years ago.

Prince Philip, he said, "seemed to know quite a bit about hockey and told me polo was a lot the same."

Noisy Ships Say Hello To Queen

MONTREAL (CP)—The royal yacht Britannia, escorted by two freshly-painted tugs, eased into Montreal's fresh water harbor Wednesday carrying Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip here for continuation of their 45-day Canadian tour.

Although they were not due to come ashore until today, a crowd of several thousands gathered behind a wire barricade to cheer and applaud the royal couple. Ships in the harbor set up a deafening din, sounding a welcome with their whistles.

STOOD ON SUNDECK

The Queen and Prince Philip stood on the Britannia's sundeck as the yacht moved upriver towards the harbor. She and the prince chatted animatedly as the yacht was edged into her berth at 5:31 p.m. EDT.

When a cheer went up from the crowd, the Queen acknowledged it with a wave of her handkerchief. The royal couple disappeared below decks as soon as the ship was secured.

TUMULTUOUS WELCOME

It was learned that the Queen and the prince sat on the sundeck for much of the 90-mile trip from Trois-Rivieres, where they were given a tumultuous welcome during a brief morning visit.

Shortly after the Britannia docked, Mayor Sarto Fournier and J. M. Savigneau, chairman of the city's executive committee, arrived to pay their respects.

The Queen and Prince Philip are to tour Montreal today

Big Fight On Radio

Radio broadcast of tonight's world heavyweight championship fight between Floyd Patterson and challenger Ingemar Johansson of Sweden will be carried by the CBC.

Pray for My Release Governor Long Pleads

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long somehow smuggled a tape recorded speech out of a mental hospital last night and asked the people of Louisiana to "pray" that he be released on Friday.

The statement by the governor was broadcast over radio station WNOE in New Orleans.

Long gave his assurance that he "wouldn't hurt anybody" if he is released from Southeastern Hospital in Mandeville, La., where he is confined as a schizophrenic paranoiac.

He is scheduled to get a hearing at 10 a.m. Friday in Covington, La., before District Judge Robert D. Jones on whether he was illegally confined on a commitment warrant signed by his wife—now hiding someplace outside Louisiana.

Long's lawyer, Joe Arthur and attend a civic hall tonight. Friday the Queen joins with President Eisenhower in the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway at St. Lambert, across the river from Montreal.

At Trois-Rivieres, a reception unmatched since the start of their Canadian tour was given the royal couple by an exuberant holiday crowd.

Police estimated that anywhere from 40,000 to 60,000 people turned out to cheer and applaud the royal couple during their brief stop en route to Montreal.

Hits Side of Pier

Philip Scrapes Paint Off Yacht

MONTREAL (UPI)—Prince Philip bumped the royal yacht Britannia against the side of a pier yesterday and scrapped the paint on a nearly 25 foot area of the ship's glistening hull.

Esmond Butler, assistant press secretary to Queen Elizabeth, reversed himself and told newsmen that Philip was handling the ship when it scraped alongside the pier at Three Rivers, Que.

Butler earlier told reporters at the dockside after the Britannia reached Montreal that the Queen's husband was not responsible.

"Prince Philip was bringing the yacht alongside when this occurred," Butler told reporters. He said the mishap involving Philip, a former British navy frigate captain, could have happened to anyone and the damage could be repaired "by one seaman with a pot of paint in five minutes."

Butler said "every ship that comes up the St. Lawrence probably has had a scrape or two and this is nothing unusual."

Directors Reverse President's Decision

TORONTO (CP)—Ernest Bushnell, acting president of the CBC, said Wednesday night his board of directors would not back his cancellation of a parliamentary opinion program and the program would be restored to the radio network Monday.

After an afternoon of directors' meetings at which no minutes were taken, a haggard Mr. Bushnell told a press conference that the 37 who resigned when he cancelled the program Review Commentary were welcome back.

By late Wednesday at least 26 indicated they would return.

A statement of the CBC board of directors read by Mr. Bushnell said the three-minute radio opinion program from Ottawa was being resumed to "remove any doubt as to the independence of the corporation."

Mr. Bushnell said: "I made the decision to cancel the program in consultation with my colleagues in Ottawa. This is the first time the board has considered it. They have reversed the CBC management's decision."

He said the decision to restore the program was unanimous. Asked whether he intends to remain with the CBC, he replied: "I hope so."

Welcomed CBC Move

The 28 Toronto CBC program organizers and radio and television producers who resigned, said Wednesday night in a statement they welcomed the CBC's move to return the program to the air next Monday. Some 24 of them said they would accept the CBC's offer to return to work immediately.

David Walker, spokesman for the group, said three principals, who have been invited to testify before the House of Commons committee on broadcasting in Ottawa next Tuesday, have not yet made a decision to return. One other has not yet announced his decision.

In their statement, the group said:

"We resigned in defence of the principle—everyone knows what it was—that the air must be free for a full and forthright expression of opinion on all questions of importance and must not fall under the control of any special interests."

"We welcome tonight's statement by the board of directors and are taking it as a guarantee that the principle now is secure. On that basis we are going back to work, and are looking forward to continuing the work of the corporation with Frank Peers and his associates, Hugh Gillis and Bernard Trotter."

Program Restored

Earlier Wednesday night the CBC board of directors announced the three-minute radio program Review Commentary would be restored and that the board had not accepted the producers' resignations.

Peers, Gillis and Trotter, the three supervisory men who resigned from the CBC's department of talks and public affairs charging "clandestine political interference," have not made a decision to go back yet.

They charged that the top CBC administrators had shown weakness in the face of what they called "clandestine political interference" in the cancellation of Preview Commentary.

Make No Decision

Three of them said they will not make a decision to return until after they appear Tuesday before the Commons broadcasting committee. A fourth has not yet announced his decision.

A CBC spokesman said the corporation hopes normal program schedules will be resumed immediately. Among the programs affected were Tabloid and Viewpoint, both TV opinion programs.

Mr. Bushnell was asked whether members of Parliament had ever spoken to him unofficially about CBC programs. He said they had on social occasions. A reporter asked whether this might have constituted the "clandestine political interference" cited by those who resigned.

Mr. Bushnell replied with a chuckle: "It might be."

100-Year Span For Humans Normal Soon

Regina (CP)—A life span of 100 years may be normal soon, a conference on the aged and long-term illness was told yesterday.

Dr. Edward L. Bortz, chief of medical service at Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia, told the conference science is gradually getting control of the major disease killers.

"In the next two or three decades, 100 years will be an average span," Dr. Bortz said.

AGING PROBLEMS

He addressed the opening of a three-day conference on the problems of aging, sponsored by the Saskatchewan government. About 170 delegates from all over the province are attending.

Plans for the aging must go further than building homes

HUGE POTENTIAL

"Medical science has given you this huge potential in numbers of older citizens who have years of knowledge and wisdom," Dr. Bortz said.

He suggested that this potential could be used, just as the minerals underground were eventually used after years of lying idle.

PLAN OUTLINED

Delegates were welcomed by Works Minister C. G. Willis who outlined what is done for the aged in Saskatchewan. Almost nine per cent of the province's population is over 65, a figure exceeded only by British Columbia, Prince Edward Island, and Manitoba.

In 1958, there were 6.3 persons outside the labor force in Saskatchewan for every three in it. The labor force is the age group from 15 to 64.

Long Fight Ends

Starkweather Dies In Electric Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Charles Starkweather, killer of 11, was electrocuted early this morning.

The 20-year-old and his family reached the end of all avenues of appeal late yesterday when the Supreme Courts of Nebraska and the United States refused to grant stays of the execution.

Starkweather, who was served a tenderloin steak for his last meal earlier in the evening, told an unidentified guard, "I had a feeling that tonight was the night." Four times before, the execution had been stayed.

The Rev. Robert Klein, chaplain for the state penitentiary, arrived about three hours before the execution, stepped briskly to the main building and joined Starkweather on death row.

The state supreme court, in an emergency night session, turned down Starkweather's father, Guy, in a frantic appeal. At almost the same time, his Washington attorneys announced they had given up.

Guy Starkweather's high court application contended his son had not been provided adequate counsel at his original trial and that there was evidence to warrant a new trial.

Canton Dikes Hold

At least 187 lives have been lost in the flood and it seems likely many more have died.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A 600-ton Russian fishing trawler was sighted Monday deep in the Gulf of Alaska about 90 miles south of Seward, a veteran tug captain reported, here Wednesday.

Pacific Northwest IWA Pacts Set

PORTLAND (AP)—Pacific Northwest members of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA-CIO) approved new contracts in a vote announced yesterday.

At the same time, union officials said a re-evaluation makes the value of fringe benefits higher than at first thought.

The new contract, negotiated with the major employer group, Forest Products Industries, as well as such independent contractors as Weyerhaeuser Timber Company and Simpson Logging Company, was approved by a substantial margin.

When agreement first was reached the over-all value was announced as calling for an hourly gain of 20 cents. But a restudy of vacation benefits, Roe said, showed the gain in the two-year contract totalled 23 an hour.

Queen's Visit To Chemainus Stirs Interest

CHEMAINUS—This lumbering community is all agog over the impending royal visit, July 6. Queen Elizabeth, Prince Philip and members of the royal party will spend more than two hours here, their longest stop at any Island point except Victoria.

The royal couple and members of their official party will tour the giant MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. Chemainus sawmill, one of the largest in the world, then enjoy a leisurely luncheon at Mount Brenton Golf Club on the outskirts of the community.

The Chamber of Commerce has organized a community-wide "clean-up, paint-up" campaign to prepare for the royal visit.

The Queen and Prince Philip will be driven to Chemainus via the Old Highway from Aradby. The official motorcade will turn down Oak Street to Willow, drive along Willow through the business section of town to Mill Road, arriving outside the sawmill office at 11:45 a.m.

Municipal and government dignitaries, including Reeve C. A. P. Murison and Mrs. Murison and officials of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., will be introduced to the royal couple on a platform outside the mill office.

Five minutes later, the royal party will leave on their tour of the sawmill.

Tour of the sawmill will end at 12:30. A 15-minute stop at the company office is then scheduled. At 12:45, the royal procession will leave for the golf club via Mill Road, the Old Highway and Henry Road, arriving at 12:50 p.m.

MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. will also be hosts at the informal outdoor luncheon at the picturesque little golf course. The green fairway, nestled between tall trees, overlooks Fuller's Lake.

The Queen and Prince Philip will be able to see, in the background, the mountains from which MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. gets many of its logs for its Chemainus sawmill.

At 1:45, the royal party will leave for Duncan via the Trans-Canada Highway, having spent over two hours here.

Double Meters for Duncan

New style double-headed meters like the one being inspected by city employee Mrs. E. M. Waldie, 1039 Vista, were installed on Station Street in Duncan yesterday between Canada and Craig. Council has urged drivers to park close to the cars using their "twin" so enough room is left for manoeuvring.

Mesachie Lake Merchant Dies in Duncan Hospital

MESACHIE LAKE—Robert Berry, a well-known and respected businessman here for the last 17 years, died yesterday in King's Daughters Hospital.

The 87-year-old merchant retired in 1955. Mr. Berry was born at Aberdeen, Scotland.

He came to Canada in 1914 and had lived in B.C. for 39 years, at Spring Creek, the Arrow Lakes, Trail and here.

Surviving are three sons, Robert, Percy and Donald, Cowichan Lake area; two daughters, Mrs. H. N. Whittemore, Victoria, and Mrs. C. R. Waldie, Nelson.

Rev. W. F. Burns will officiate at the service Saturday at 2 p.m. in the First Funeral Home, Duncan. Cremation will follow at Royal Oak, Saanich.

Cowichan Schools Bylaw

$1,155,282 Vote July 9

COWICHAN—Voting for this district's biggest school bylaw will be held July 9.

The board announced the new date for the $1,155,282 bylaw yesterday after its approval was received from the provincial government.

Previously the board of school district 65 (Cowichan) had set the date for June 13, but the bylaw was held up because Education Minister Leslie Peterson was in Europe, and had not yet given final approval.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Crofton Church Hall, the Maple Bay

Yacht Club and the Duncan City Hall.

PERSONAL LOANS

FOR ANY REASONABLE PURPOSE AVAILABLE AT ANY BRANCH OF

DO YOU NEED MONEY?

- ★ to consolidate debts
- ★ to meet insurance premiums
- ★ to pay doctor, dentist or hospital bills
- ★ for educational purposes
- ★ to meet unexpected obligations
- ★ to cover major purchases
- ★ for home improvements?

Personal loans for these and other reasonable purposes are available at any branch of The Royal Bank of Canada to any credit-worthy individual.

Obviously we do not encourage people to assume a debt they will be unable to repay. Such loans can be an embarrassment and a worry to the borrower as well as the bank.

BUT, if you have a steady job and are in a position to pay back your loan without undue hardship, by regular monthly instalments, your logical course is to call at your nearest Royal Bank branch. You will find the manager glad to discuss your needs with you and to explain to you the remarkably low rate of interest charged by this bank for personal loans.

Good Reasons Why Every Worker in the Coast Lumber Industry Should

Vote "Yes" Friday

(JUNE 26th)

In the Government-Supervised Strike Vote

1. A sweeping "Yes" vote on Friday, June 26th, is now the only means by which proper attention may be secured for the legitimate demands of coast lumber workers. Employer-dominated conciliation results have sidetracked consideration of the employees' welfare.
2. A sweeping "Yes" vote will show that the lumber workers know that the employers are well able to pay higher wages than those offered through the Conciliation Board's Report, and that they will, if necessary, refuse to accept conditions of employment worse than the industry can easily provide.
3. The employers' wage offer provides an average wage increase of four cents an hour over a three-year period. Also, the employers' proposals will weaken existing contract conditions. A wage increase must compensate for rising living costs, or real wages will be cut, with the wage dollar buying fewer and fewer groceries.
4. American employers in the fir belt immediately south of the border, with the same type of operations, shipping to the same markets, for the same prices, have granted wage increases amounting to 30 cents an hour since the last increase for B.C. coast lumber workers. In the same period Interior lumber workers have gained an increase amounting to 23 cents an hour. Skilled workers in the lumber industry, which produces 50 per cent of the province's wealth, should not be forced to accept lower wages than those paid for comparable work.
5. The industry was never in better shape to pay the wage increase demanded. Production is up to full capacity. Shipments are greater than previously. Order files are the highest recorded. Prices have risen on an average of 25%. Output per man-hour has increased—fewer men produce more lumber. If the employers will not deal fairly with their employees this year, it means that they never intend to do so.
6. The fears expressed by the employers have been repeatedly proven groundless. The industry has not been priced out of its export markets. In a period without any wage increases, sales volume and prices have risen together. Export markets for lumber have improved with the improved ability of British Columbians to buy the goods with which customers abroad pay for B.C. exports. Adequate distribution of wages to lumber workers, who form the largest single group of industrial workers in the province, stimulates community business activity.

Up-Island Warden To Leave

CAMPBELL RIVER—Veteran game warden Rex Hayes has been transferred to the B.C. mainland.

The transfer will take effect at the end of June and Mr. Hayes' replacement will take over the Campbell River post on July 1.

A former member of the B.C. Provincial Police, Mr. Hayes transferred to the game branch 23 years ago and has served at Duncan, Courtenay and Campbell River.

He is well known for his work among boys of the Courtenay area where, several years ago, he organized the largest boys' club in Canada.

Mystery Man Regains His Memory

Victoria's mystery man amnesia patient at Royal Jubilee Hospital, has regained his memory.

Robert George Stanley Jervis, 21, an employee of Trans-Canada Air Lines in Vancouver, responded "completely" to further treatment administered yesterday afternoon, hospital officials announced.

He will be kept in hospital

for a time, however, for further observation and to ease his return to normalcy.

Jervis was found early last Thursday, lying unconscious on the sidewalk in the 900 block of Yates. The three young men who found him took him to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where it was discovered there were no cards or marks of identification of any kind.

His picture, printed in the Colonist Saturday morning, brought a local response, but a local hotel brought in a suit coat matching trousers worn by the man, found in a room registered to an "R. Jervis," of Vancouver.

This opened the way to identifying the patient who, on regaining consciousness, had no recollection at all of his name or background.

Vancouver police reported that Robert George Stanley Jervis of that city was on their missing persons list, and identification was established.

A visit Tuesday by a fellow worker in the Vancouver TCA office failed to restore Jervis' memory, and it was not until yesterday afternoon, following further treatment by Dr. Robert Post, that his memory was restored.

Huge Parks Program Will Entertain 3,000

Lakes Plan Bucked

Proposal that the whole of Greater Victoria should own and develop Beaver and Elk Lakes through the water board met firm opposition yesterday from Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Discussion at a meeting of Greater Victoria representatives was inconclusive, but Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said his municipality was "unilaterally opposed" to the water board being used for any other purpose than supplying water, and Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said his council considered the proposal "not the proper way of doing things at all."

BUY PROPERTY

The suggestion, as put forward last year by City Manager C. C. Wyatt, was that the Greater Victoria water board buy Victoria city's Elk and Beaver Lakes property, both as a potential water source and as park land, and that Greater Victoria water-users pay for the purchase and park maintenance and development on their water bills.

He estimated Victoria's investment in the property amounted to roughly $860,000, and his figures indicated the plan would cost the average water-user about 13 cents a month.

PARKS MAINTAINED

At present Victoria and Saanich maintain the parks at the lakes.

Reeve Murdoch and Coun. Alan Cox of Oak Bay maintained that there was no need to acquire the potential water supply because water commissioner Ronald Upward had said the Sooke Lake water system would provide enough water for a population of more than 500,000.

Providing park services, Reeve Murdoch said, would be putting a strain on finances which should be used for the water supply.

ON OWN FEET

All the municipalities, he said, had parks which were used by the residents of the other municipalities, and each should stand on its own feet.

If the city and Saanich couldn't provide the needed park facilities at the lakes, they should ask the provincial government to provide them, he suggested.

Reeve George Chatterton agreed that parks were normally the responsibility of the individual municipalities, but argued that the Beaver-Elk property would in the future become one of the greatest assets of the whole area if it could be preserved.

Mayoress Proposal Dropped

Directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce Wednesday turned thumbs down on a suggestion that Victoria should recognize the title mayoress, for the wife of the mayor.

Sam Lane, chairman of the tourist group, asked the directors to approve a group resolution that in recognition of the work done by Mrs. Scourah, the honorary title of mayoress be recognized not only for Mrs. Scourah but for the wives of all future mayors.

A letter from the town clerk of Manchester, England, was read by Mr. Lane stating it was the usual practice to refer to the wife of the mayor in English cities as mayoress, although this was a purely unofficial title and carried no responsibilities.

NO SECONDER

When there was no seconder for Mr. Lane's motion, chamber president, G. Conway Parrott, said it should be referred back to the tourist group.

Later A. C. Ashforth, president of the Canadian Chambers of Commerce, who was a guest speaker at the meeting, said he was interested in Mr. Lane's proposal.

Point Drive Starts

A campaign has been started for funds to save a Ten Mile Point beauty spot for enjoyment of the public for generations to come.

The property is a privately-owned promontory beside Smugglers' Cove, where preparations are being made for construction of a home.

Reeve George Chatterton said Tuesday night he felt the price would be prohibitive—he believed it would be around $20,000 in view of the need to spend limited funds on parks which would serve more people.

But yesterday he said that if half the price could be raised by public subscription, he would "strongly recommend" to Saanich council that it put up the rest.

Fighters for preservation of the beauty spot, led by Mrs. Arthur Whittaker, 224 Edgewood, immediately formed a committee and announced the opening of a "Smugglers' Cove subscription account" at the main branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Children To See Queen

Children registered with Victoria's summer parks program will be taken to Clover Point July 17, under the care of their supervisors, to see Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

At least 1,500 children are expected to take advantage of the scheme. The supervised trip to Clover Point is the major special event planned for the city's summer parks program.

SUMMER PROGRAMS

The four Greater Victoria municipalities plan summer recreation programs to help keep children off the streets, and to teach them arts and crafts.

The city program, June 29 to Aug. 1, will be spread over nine parks: Central, Beacon Hill, Oaklands, Banfield, Topaz, Hollywood, Stadacona, Macdonald and Redfern.

FULL-DAY SCHEDULES

Full-day programs, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., will be held at Central Park and Beacon Hill Park, and other parks will operate from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

The curriculum for the recreation program includes free tennis instruction, swimming instruction at the Crystal Garden, sports, handicrafts and a free library. Instruction is free but some activities require a small fee.

COMPETENT STAFF

Gordon Hartley, city school teacher, will head a staff of 20 competent supervisors.

The Saanich program, July 6 to Aug. 16, will be spread over 16 parks: Alberry, Braefoot, Broadmead, Hampton, Majestic, Marigold, Maynard, Meadow, Playfair, Qu'Appelle, Rainbow, Reynolds, Rosedale, Rudd, Tolmie and in the Royal Oak school grounds.

3,000 CHILDREN

Competent supervisors have been appointed to take care of the 3,000 children expected to take part. Chief supervisor will be Peter Clark, a teacher at Mount View High School.

Parks will be supervised from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and a full program of sports, games, arts and crafts, singing and dancing, costume parades and parties has been arranged.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Special events planned for Saanich children include trips to the beach to collect shells, visits to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery and the provincial museum, nature hikes and inter-park competition.

The best of the handicrafts will be collected and displayed at the end of the summer.

In Oak Bay two parks—Carleton and Windsor—will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Half-day programs, from 9 to 11:30 a.m., will be offered in Firemen's Park, Willows and Lafayette.

COVERS FAMILY

Registration fee of $2 covers a family, no matter how large. Some 600 children between five years and 12 are expected to take part.

The program, four weeks from July 6, includes sports, games, handicrafts, woodwork, ceramics and swimming lessons for non-swimmers seven years and older.

Swim classes are being arranged for Kinsmen-Gorge Park in Esquimalt. Full details of registration can be obtained from the four municipal halls.

Brief Will Represent 20,000 'Isolated' People

NANAIMO — Robert Russell is to present a brief to highways minister P. A. Gallagher on behalf of the Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Commerce, August 17.

Mr. Russell told members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island executive that approximately 20,000 people are isolated or semi-isolated in the upper part of Vancouver Island/region because the Trans-Canada Highway has not been extended.

If such a highway was built he said it would connect Port Hardy and Quatsino Sound area with the rest of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Russell told the meeting that road construction would involve a 100-mile stretch with few obstacles.

His recommendation received the backing of the meeting.

PORT ALBERNI — A rural home was burned to the ground Tuesday night and nearby bush was ignited by the domestic blaze.

R.C. Forest Service extinguished the flames. The house of John Chidlow was razed to the concrete foundation in the fire on Lakeshore Road, Sprout Lake, in the second rural blaze within four days. Earlier Joyanes Massop and family were left homeless when their small house on Hills Road in the Beaver Creek area was burned.

GALIANO — At a recent meeting of St. Margaret's Guild, members voted to adopt an orphan through the "Save The Children Fund." It was decided that it should be a German child.

COURTENAY — Contracts totalling over $7,000 were awarded to local firms by the district 71 school board here as summer maintenance work on school buildings commences.

Painting, stuccoing and roofing are among the items planned in an extensive summer maintenance program.

Schools at Denman Island, Union Bay, Courtenay, Cumberland and Comox will be affected.

Most awards went to local firms with the lowest tenders in all cases being the ones chosen by the board.

LAKE COWICHAN — Water races, cancelled Sunday because of gusty winds and rough water at the fourth Klamath regatta, will be held later this summer.

Robert Schofield, Nanaimo, won the only race held, for B class utility runabouts, when Frank Tack's boat from Vancouver split at the fourth Klamath regatta, will be held later this summer.

Police Warn Of Lotteries

NANAIMO — The RCMP yesterday warned three organizations here they are conducting lotteries contrary to the criminal code.

The police mentioned the fish derby conducted by the Canadian Legion branch, the Gyro Club's lottery and the Fish and Game Club's monthly draw.

A spokesman said the warning was given following a complaint from the attorney-general's office and after Nanaimo residents complained that they were being pestered by people offering lottery tickets for sale at their doors.

CHEMANUS — Fire Chief Ray Millard of Chemainus volunteer fire department, and assistant chief Mickey Ruby-nuk were each re-elected for their eighth term.

Purchases for the Chemainus volunteer fire department, from their municipal budget for capital expenditure, were authorized for some $3,500 of equipment, including hose, smoke ejectors, flood-light plant, two Scott air packs, and other items.

There are now 22 volunteer firemen in the department, and further volunteers would be welcomed.

PORT ALBERNI — Gyro of the Albernis have enrolled approximately 650 children in free swimming classes to get under way in Port Alberni pool, July 2.

Instructors for the classes are being provided by Alberni Valley Swimming Club.

At the close of the classes the pupils will be tested and those passing their examinations will receive certificates.

GALIANO — After many months of waiting, the float at the Government wharf at Sturdies Bay has been rebuilt and installed, giving access to the wharf for small craft.

Lack of a float at this wharf on Active Pass had caused great inconvenience to a large number of persons seeking to land on Galiano.

Floral Crown Will Greet Queen

A 150 by 50-foot floral crown and "E.R." insignia will confront Queen Elizabeth when she is officially welcomed to British Columbia in Kamloops on July 11.

The floral welcome covers the lawns of the government buildings at Kamloops and is now bursting into bloom. Even the crown jewels are depicted by flowers in the proper colors.

As well as the flower welcome the red ensign and union jack flags mounted on staffs and surrounding a gold-colored E.R. crest will be displayed on the lawns.

On the legislative buildings in Victoria an illuminated crown on the main building set off with red ensign and union jack flags will be the main decorative theme.

Similar decorations are planned on all provincial government buildings along the Queen's route, including Golden, Ashcroft, Revelstoke, Vernon, Kamloops, Chilliwack, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Vancouver and Victoria.

'No Queen, No Prince—Both So Open and Lovely'

MONTREAL (CP)—"There was no Queen and no prince there—they are both so open and lovely."

Mayor Sarto Fournier's words appeared to sum up the feelings of the 47 guests who dined with Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip Wednesday night on the royal yacht Britannia as it lay alongside a pier in Montreal harbor.

Mayor Fournier, who sat at the Queen's right throughout the six-course dinner, was obviously enchanted by her.

"Her French?" he said in answer to a question, "it is better than fluent, it is elegant. We talked in both French and English. I switched back and forth without knowing it."

Like the rest of the guests

who included Montreal civic dignitaries, high church officials, federal politicians and sports figures Jean Beliveau and Sam Etcheverry, Mayor Fournier said the royal couple were delightfully easy to talk to.

Beliveau, all-star centre with the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League and Etcheverry, perennial all-star quarterback with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, were more reserved about their opinions, but much impressed.

Beliveau and his wife Elise, who arrived about 15 minutes before the rest of the guests and spent the time before going aboard the yacht at 4:30 p.m. PDT chatting rather nervously with reporters, said the Queen recalled seeing Canadians play here eight years ago.

Prince Philip, he said, "seemed to know quite a bit about hockey and told me polo was a lot the same."

COUGARS GET ROYAL STARS

Noisy Ships Say Hello To Queen

MONTREAL (CP)—The royal yacht Britannia, escorted by two freshly-painted tugs, eased into Montreal's fresh water harbor Wednesday carrying Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip here for continuation of their 45-day Canadian tour.

Although they were not due to come ashore until today, a crowd of several thousands gathered behind a wire barricade to cheer and applaud the royal couple. Ships in the harbor set up a deafening din, sounding a welcome with their whistles.

STOOD ON SUNDECK

The Queen and Prince Philip stood on the Britannia's sundeck as the yacht moved upriver towards the harbor. She and the prince chatted animatedly as the yacht was edged into her berth at 2:31 p.m. PDT.

When a cheer went up from the crowd, the Queen acknowledged it with a wave of her handkerchief. The royal couple disappeared below decks as soon as the ship was secured.

TUMULTUOUS WELCOME

It was learned that the Queen and the prince sat on the sundeck for much of the 90-mile trip from Trois-Rivières, where they were given a tumultuous welcome during a brief morning visit.

Shortly after the Britannia docked, Mayor Sarto Fournier and J. M. Savignac, chairman of the city's executive committee, arrived to pay their respects.

The Queen and Prince Philip are to tour Montreal today

and attend a civic ball tonight. Friday the Queen joins with President Eisenhower in the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway at St. Lambert, across the river from Montreal.

At Trois-Rivières, a reception unmatched since the start of their Canadian tour was given the royal couple by an exuberant holiday crowd.

Police estimated that anywhere from 40,000 to 60,000 people turned out to cheer and applaud the royal couple during their brief stop en route to Montreal.

Philip Scrapes Paint Off Yacht

MONTREAL (UPI)—Prince Philip bumped the royal yacht Britannia against the side of a pier yesterday and scraped the paint on a nearly 25-foot area of the ship's gleaming hull.

Esmond Butler, assistant press secretary to Queen Elizabeth, reversed himself and told newsmen that Philip was handling the ship when it scraped alongside the pier at Trois-Rivières, Que.

Butler earlier told reporters at the docks after the Britannia reached Montreal that the Queen's husband was not responsible.

"Prince Philip was bringing the yacht alongside when this occurred," Butler told reporters.

He said the mishap involving Philip, a former British navy frigate captain, could have happened to anyone and the damage could be repaired "by one seaman with a pot of paint in five minutes."

Butler said "every ship that comes up the St. Lawrence probably has had a scrape or two and this is nothing unusual."

Earlier at Trois-Rivières, where a "hometown boy,"

Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis, drove to meet the Queen, whom he left after a Quebec City dinner late Tuesday, one of the largest crowds to greet the Queen so far in her tour lined up shoulder to shoulder around her in a local square.

Police estimated that about 60,000, many from outlying districts, joined in the flag waving, hand clapping welcome at "Le Flambeau," a stone gushing out continuous flame from the top to mark Trois-Rivières' 325th anniversary.

The Queen saw a battered old oil painting of one of her ancestors as she and Philip returned from the memorial to their yacht.

The cheap copy of a head and shoulders portrait of Britain's Queen Victoria was held up above the crowd of heads by a local resident who offered to sell it for $200. There were no takers.

Directors Decide

Trouble Over As CBC Returns Show

TORONTO (CP)—Ernest Bushnell, acting president of the CBC, said Wednesday night his board of directors would not back his cancellation of a parliamentary opinion program and the program would be restored to the radio network Monday.

After an afternoon of directors' meetings at which no minutes were taken, a haggard Mr. Bushnell told a press conference that the 37 who resigned when he cancelled the program Preview Commentary were welcome back.

By late Wednesday at least 26 indicated they would return.

A statement of the CBC board of directors read by Mr. Bushnell said the three-minute radio opinion program from Ottawa was being resumed to "remove any doubt as to the independence of the corporation."

Mr. Bushnell said: I made the decision to cancel the program in consultation with my colleagues in Ottawa. This is the first time the board has considered it. They have reversed the CBC management's decision.

He said the decision to restore the program was unanimous. Asked whether he intends to remain with the CBC, he replied: "I hope so."

Welcomed CBC Move

The 28 Toronto CBC program organizers and radio and television producers who resigned, said Wednesday night in a statement they welcomed the CBC's move to return the program to the air next Monday. Some 24 of them said they would accept the CBC's offer to return to work immediately.

David Walker, spokesman for the group, said three principals, who have been invited to testify before the House of Commons committee on broadcasting in Ottawa next Tuesday, have not yet made a decision to return. One other has not yet announced his decision.

In their statement, the group said:

"We resigned in defence of the principle—everyone knows what it was—that the air must be free for a full and forthright expression of opinion on all questions of importance and must not fall under the control of any special interests."

"We welcome tonight's statement by the board of directors and are taking it as a guarantee that the principle now is secure. On that basis we are going back to work and are looking forward to continuing the work of the corporation with Frank Peers and his associates, Hugh Gillis and Bernard Trotter."

Resignations Refused

Earlier Wednesday night the CBC board of directors announced the three-minute radio program Preview Commentary would be restored and that the board had not accepted the producers' resignations.

Peers, Gillis and Trotter, the three supervisory men who resigned from the CBC's department of talks and public affairs charging "clandestine political interference," have not made a decision to go back yet.

They charged that the top CBC administrators had shown weakness in the face of what they called "clandestine political interference" in the cancellation of Preview Commentary.

In Ottawa Wednesday before the announcement of the CBC decision the Commons broadcasting committee decided to investigate the charges of political interference.

A CBC spokesman said the corporation hopes normal program schedules will be resumed immediately. Among the programs affected were Tabloid and Viewpoint, both TV opinion programs.

Mr. Bushnell was asked whether members of Parliament had ever spoken to him unofficially about CBC programs. He said they had on social occasions. A reporter asked whether this might have constituted the "clandestine political interference" cited by those who resigned.

Mr. Bushnell replied with a chuckle: "It might be."

Pressed further on the question of pressures and who had made the decision to drop the program, he said he had been advised by Charles Jennings, controller of broadcasting responsible for policy, and H. G.

Walker, the director for Ontario and English networks.

He said they had concurred in the decision that Preview Commentary was doing a good job, but a news program was substituted "because we thought we could do a better job."

'Princess' Sold As Tug

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 140-foot freight and passenger vessel Nootka Princess will be converted to a heavy duty tug for service on the west coast of Vancouver Island. Sale of the ship, former CPR steamer, Princess of Alberni, to Great West Towing and Salvage Ltd. and H. L. Towing Ltd., was announced Wednesday by Northland Navigation Co.

Deserters May Stay

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration department officials said Wednesday they expect to receive an application from two seamen who deserted from a Russian trawler at St. John's, Nfld., to remain in Canada as immigrants or under political asylum.

Long Fight Ends

Starkweather Dies In Electric Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Charles Starkweather, killer of 11, was electrocuted early this morning.

The 20-year-old and his family reached the end of all avenues of appeal late yesterday when the Supreme Courts of Nebraska and the United States refused to grant stays of the execution.

Starkweather, who was served a tenderloin steak for his last meal earlier in the evening, told an unidentified guard, "I had a feeling that tonight was the night." Four times before, the execution had been stayed.

The Rev. Robert Klein, chaplain for the state penitentiary, arrived about three hours before the execution, given up.

Father Chases, Nabs Molester—Then Dies

SASKATOON (CP)—Cecil Miller, 39, father of three young children, died Wednesday after chasing a man who had enticed his four-year-old daughter into a clump of bushes near their home by promising to give her "some gum."

Mr. Miller died shortly after chasing the stranger for two blocks, then violently fighting with him and holding him until police arrived. Cause of death was believed to be a heart attack.

Mrs. Miller was preparing lunch when a neighbor came in to say the Miller's four-year-old daughter, Diane, had just gone down the street with a strange man.

"Diane came out from the bushes at the end of the street," she said, "Cecil ran out of the house and down the street, and just then a man came out of the bushes, too. Cecil chased him and must spend the next season in Victoria.

Among the players with the Royals last season were forwards Art Jones, Hugh Barlow, Gordie Fashaway, Max McNab, Arlo Goodwin and Arnie Schmautz, goalkeeper Ryno Zanier and defencemen Pete Wright, Ron Matthews and Fred Creighton.

Just what can be expected from Boston also will be in doubt for some time. Some of the Boston-owned players mentioned as likely to be shifted to their Western Hockey League affiliate are forwards Cal Gardner, Buddy Boone, Real Chevrefils, Bob Beckett, Barry Ashbee, Orval Tessier, Skip Teal and George Rainieri and defenceman Floyd Hillman.

Just how many players the Cougars will get will not be certain for some time.

GOALKEEPER

It was also speculated that the Bruins would send a goalkeeper to the WHL. They have a choice between Bruce Gamble, drafted from Vancouver; Harry Lumley, Don Simmons and a fine young prospect who played last season with the Junior Barrie Flyers.

Defenceman Art Erickson and Don Ward, drafted from the Chicago Black Hawk farm system and with Calgary last year, are others who could be sent west this season.

It is assumed that Hal Laycoe, former National Hockey League defenceman who has been manager-coach of the Royals for the past three seasons, will also make the move to Victoria.

Pray for My Release Governor Long Pleads

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long somehow smuggled a tape recorded speech out of a mental hospital last night and asked the people of Louisiana to "pray" that he be released on Friday.

The statement by the governor was broadcast over radio station WNOE in New Orleans.

Long gave his assurance that he "wouldn't hurt anybody" if he is released from Southeastern Hospital in Mandeville, La., where he is confined as a schizophrenic paranoid.

hearing at 10 a.m. Friday in Covington, La., before District Judge Robert D. Jones on whether he was illegally confined on a commitment warrant signed by his wife—now hiding someplace outside Louisiana.

Long's lawyer, Joe Arthur Sims, an old machine subordinate, took the recording out of the hospital and asked station manager James Noe what was the best way to get it to the public. Noe said his station would broadcast it.

Long wandered and meandered in his talk.

He said the state has to take care of people who are sick and are poor. He related what a "good job" his administration had done for the state.

In conclusion, he said he did not want to "hurt anybody" and asked people to pray for him on the outcome of the hearing.
